

WELFARE: There Will Be Some Changes

EDITOR'S NOTE — Following is the first of a two-part special series dealing with welfare—the efforts in the past and indications of new strategy for the future.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After nearly 35 years of trying to fight poverty by calling it something else, the federal government may be getting ready to face the issue directly.

The signal of possible change was word from the Nixon administration that it intends to spend nearly $10 million testing various "income maintenance" proposals. That means the national government for the first time is giving serious thought to spending public funds to help people who have no "good reason" for being poor.

Up to now, official Washington has paid scant heed to suggestions from economists that the simplest way to help poor people would be to give them money. The focus instead has been relieving various physical and social problems that accompany and sometimes cause poverty.

The reasons given for this approach are (1) old-fashioned "relief" does nothing but thread the symptoms of poverty, and (2) the voters would not stand for a national dole that doesn't separate the unfortunate from the indolent.

Other Names

As a result, federal programs to help the poor usually have gone under some other label, such as old age assistance, aid to education, job training or community action.

The original federal venture into public assistance in 1935 was limited to sharing the cost of state programs providing cash benefits for the indigent victims of some "natural hazard" of life—old folks, orphans, the blind.

Later, federal welfare payments also went to the disabled and sick poor, but there has been no federal contribution to "general assistance" programs which have existed at the state and county level from the earliest days of the nation.

Even the recent vast increase in federal spending on the poor has not basically changed the traditional view. The "war on poverty" launched in 1964 has sought primarily to give the poor a chance to help themselves — through better education, special job training, health services, legal aid, and neighborhood organization to bring pressure on the political and economic power structure of the community.

The administration's new pilot programs of direct cash aid to the poor are not the first federal experiments with this approach. The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) had previously funded a $4 million income maintenance experiment among a group of New Jersey families.

But the OEO test was limited to one area and until recently never got the kind of publicity buildup that the antipoverty agency has laid on for some of its other programs. The new test will involve more than twice as much money, eight times as many families and several areas of the country.

Signs of Change

Federal "pilot projects" more often than not tend to become full-fledged national programs. And there is other strong evidence that important changes may be coming in the welfare field.

First, the costs of the present system have risen sharply. Federal-state public assistance benefits (excluding rather substantial administrative costs such as case workers' salaries) increased from about $2 billion in 1951 to $5.3 billion in 1968. The most recent official forecast for fiscal 1970 was $6.9 billion, a figure sure to be boosted well over $7 billion by the recent Supreme Court decision striking down state minimum residence requirements for welfare applicants.

Adding the administrative costs and the state-financed general assistance program would push the figure to about $8 billion.

Costs Up

The costs of these programs have gone up in part because the individual benefits are higher. For example, old age benefits increased from an average $44 a month in 1950 to $79 in 1964. Other benefits have increased correspondingly.

Second, there has been a huge increase in the number of persons receiving aid to families with dependent children. In 1951, the year after Congress authorized benefits for mothers as well as their dependent children, aid went to 2,044,000 persons. In 1968, the Aid For Dependent Children (AFDC) caseload was 6,080,000 persons.

By comparison, the number of persons receiving old age assistance decreased from 2,708,000 in 1951 to 2,028,000 in 1968. At the beginning of 1969, AFDC recipients represented nearly three-fourths of the entire federal-state welfare caseload.

Seven billion dollars may be less than one-tenth of the U.S. defense budget, but it still is not a sum likely to escape the notice of an economy-conscious Congress. So on the basis of cost alone, the existing welfare system has come into question.

But that is far from all. The AFDC cost increase is the result of a dramatic change in

Hamburger Hill--- U.S. Troops Leave

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States pulled the bulk of its troops off Hamburger Hill today, forsaking the peak near Laos whose capture cost 53 GIs killed and 300 wounded and triggered controversy in Washington.

"We feel we've gotten everything out of this mountain that we're going to get," one officer said.

"There's no tactical reason to stay there. We've defeated the enemy forces and there wouldn't be any reason to stay on after defeating him on the hill," another officer stated.

"Right now we have no major units on the hill. We still have troops in the area on searching and clearing operations and possibly there are still OPs (observation posts) on the hill," said a U.S. commander in the far northern battle zone. But the main units moved out during the night.

North Vietnamese troops

lurking around the mountain fired a 15-round farewell barrage into the American ranks but no one was killed.

U.S. military sources in Da Nang told UPI correspondent David Lamb that the Americans would be sent back to the hill if the guerrillas try to move back onto it—considered a likelihood.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' military command in Saigon denied a major evacuation from the peak. A command spokesman said "there are still combat forces on the hill" but declined to say how many.

The reluctance of the command to acknowledge a large-scale abandonment underscored its concern with critics in Washington questioning its combat tactics in light of peace talks in Paris.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said the 10-day battle for Hamburger Hill, ending in its capture last Tuesday, was an "irresponsible" sacrifice of American lives for "a false sense of military pride."

U.S. paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division succeeded on their 11th try in seizing the 3,000-foot peak, having killed 539 North Vietnamese soldiers who defended a regimental headquarters at the summit.

The 10,000-man U.S. and South Vietnamese sweep through the A Shau Valley, which the peak overlooks, continued. Guerrillas attacked a government unit at the northern end of the valley Monday but were turned back with 22 killed, war communiques said.

Long a Communist stronghold, the 27-mile-long valley lies along South Vietnam's border with Laos and is a major offshoot of the Ho Chi Minh supply trail, feeding supplies to guerrilla troops menacing such major cities as Da Nang and Hue on the northern coast.

The commander of the A Shau offensive, Maj. Gen. Melvin Zais, defended the battle for Hamburger Hill as preventing what could have developed into a North Vietnamese offensive against Hue. The U.S. Command called it a "good operation."

To have kept a unit on the hill would have created logistics problems. For one thing, the hill is so far from a major U.S. base that it would have to be supplied by helicopter, and the weather over the A Shau Valley forbids this six months out of the year.

Ap Bia mountain, as it is known to the South Vietnamese, or Hill 937, as it appears on military maps, got its Hamburger Hill nickname from the GIs who fought there.

U.S. Viet Costs: $108.2 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vietnam is fast becoming a hundred-billion-dollar war.

Government figures show the 1970 defense budget will add $25.4 billion to officially admitted expenses dating back to 1965, raising the price of the conflict to $108.2 billion.

Hidden or indirect costs probably add hundreds of millions to the real expense of the war, although the scope of these items is sometimes difficult to assess because of official secrecy.

For example, the American government is doling out millions in economic assistance to reinforce such Vietnam border countries as Thailand and Laos which could sway the balance of power in the area.

Special Category
The Pentagon budget lumps admitted Vietnam war costs under a category entitled "Estimated Special Support for Southeast Asia Operations."

This covers the acknowledged U.S. expenses of maintaining dozens of ships, hundreds of planes and helicopters and 634,000 military personnel in and off Vietnam and outlying areas; certain military assistance in the way of weapons and equipment to not only Vietnam but also Thailand and Laos; and outright grants of foodstuffs and other materials to Vietnam which have totaled over $1 billion since 1965.

Control of the Plaine des Jarres in northern Laos was still up for grabs as Laotian government troops and Communist forces continue to battle . . . Story Page 42.

The Southeast Asia category does not, however, fully reflect some other war-related expenses such as construction of the Thai-owned airfield near Sattahip, Thailand, which the United States built in 1965 to handle KC135 tankers and B52 bombers flying missions into Laos and South Vietnam. This base cost well over $150 million.

The general financial book-keeping for the war back to fiscal 1965, which began in mid-1964, reads this way:

In 1965—$103 million; 1966, $6.094 billion; 1967, $20.557 billion; 1968, $26.839 billion; 1969, $29.192 billion; and, proposed for fiscal 1970, $25.4 billion.

The U.S. cost for fighting the 37-month Korean War was about $18 billion. The American cost for World War II ran about $250,000 million a day.

The figures for the current war include economic aid to Vietnam ranging from $282 million to $424 million during the war years.

The budget figures no longer show, however, the old Military Assistance Program costs for Vietnam. MAP expenses were absorbed in the defense budget in 1967 when they were running around $600 million per year.

Rate Is Tripled

Officials say this rate has tripled, or by about $1.8 billion. This pays for guns, ammunition and other military equipment the United States is turning over to Saigon.

The amount of military aid provided to supposedly neutral Laos is classified but is believed to be running at a rate of $100 million a year.

Outright military assistance to Thailand apparently is somewhat less than Laos although it has doubled in the past four years. Officials say military aid to the Thais rose from $38.3 million last year.

Colombia Calls Reserves To Protect Rockefeller

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—Police called out scores of reserves today to guard against renewed student demonstrations protesting the visit of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, on a Latin American tour for President Nixon.

Students marched in practically every major city in Colombia when Rockefeller arrived Tuesday. The protesters burned U.S. flags, set fire to effigies of Rockefeller and chanted "Yankee, Go Home."

More than 100 demonstrators were arrested.

On Second Phase

Rockefeller is on the second phase of a visit that will take him to every Latin American nation except Cuba and Peru. He is gathering facts the Nixon administration needs to decide what changes to make in U.S. policy toward Latin America.

Gen. Luis Ettilio Leyva, chief of security, said reserves were ordered to duty "to guarantee order and the personal security" of Rockefeller.

Colombia has been critical in the past of strings the United States has attached to aid. One of the conditions under protest was that such funds be spent in the United States. But the government of President Carlos Lleras Restrepo has been officially friendly to Washington.

Colombia's economy is dependent on U.S. purchases of coffee, the nation's chief crop grown on the slopes of the towering Andes Mountains that split the country, which is more than twice the size of California.

Rockefeller's visit to Peru was canceled at the request of the Peruvian military government, because of the nation's harassment of U.S. fishing boats in the Pacific.

Rockefeller got a cool reception from several hundred persons at the airport in the 8,900-foot-high capital of Bogota Tuesday but police escorted him by motorcade on a route that bypassed student disorders. "I brought no advice, but I come to get it," Rockefeller said in Spanish as he arrived. "What I bring is more than 30 years of deep interest and affection for Latin America and respect for the human dignity, liberty and social justice."

15 Persons Injured

Students fought police at the University of Bogota campus and 15 persons were injured. Other outbreaks of violence were reported in the cities of Cali, Barranquilla, Monteria, and Bucaramanga.

More than 100 persons were arrested in the demonstrations throughout the country, 76 in Cali.

In Monteria, students burned two automobiles and police said demonstrators dashed into several policemen's faces.

$2.5 Million Ulster Mall — Construction After Labor Day

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

TOWN OF ULSTER

Construction will start shortly after Labor Day on a $2.5 million modern all-weather shopping mall, the largest in the Kingston area and one of the largest in the Hudson Valley.

Takes Over Drive-In Theater

The buildings proposed will embrace 168,000 square feet of selling space on the 16-acre site of the 9W Drive-In Theater in the Town of Ulster. Contract arrangements for use of the 699,575 square feet of usable land have been made with Walter Reade Inc., theater chain operators, of Oakhurst, N.J.

Leonard Adelstein of Monticello, developer representing Mammoth Mall of Kingston Associates told The Freeman this week, excavation will start after Labor Day as soon as the 9W Drive-In Theater closes.

The target date for opening of the greater part of the shopping facilities will be in the spring, Adelstein said.

Adelstein said Mammoth was also planning a similar shopping mall at Newburgh which will be constructed simultaneously with Kingston. He noted that the huge shopping mall at Monticello has already started with site work expected to be completed by June 15.

The architect's drawing of Genovese & Maddalene, AIA, of Glen Rock, N.J., filed with Town of Ulster Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz shows parking areas for 1,000 cars.

Adelstein said a discount department store, Mammoth Mart Inc., will occupy 60,000 square feet and will be the focal point of the mall which will provide all-weather shopping. A discount food super market will occupy 30,000 square feet and will be one of the largest Upstate. The Monticello developer said Mammoth is currently negotiating with three food super market chains and expects to consummate a deal with one of them by next week.

Next to the food super market will be a large discount drug and prescription retail store, Adelstein said.

Drive-In Bank Planned

Mammoth Mall will also include a drive-in bank in an 80 by 44 feet separate building near the front of the tract. Negotiations are also in progress with area banks, Adelstein noted. The mall will connect a string of retail stores, converting 55,000 square feet of selling space, and another smaller strip of 11,000 square feet. Another separate building on the northwest corner of the tract near Route 9W will provide 8,400 square feet.

The enclosed mall will run north and south from the department store complex to the discount drug center and continue at a right angle west to the food super market.

The 16.06-acre site has nearly 1,000 feet frontage on Route 9W and the tract runs back about 765 feet deep. There is a cutout in the southwest corner of the tract now occupied by a Mobil service station and laundromat just north of the Bob Steele buildings. This covers about 145 by 153 feet along Route 9W.

Adelstein said the Monticello mall will be the largest of the three projects and site work has been in progress and construction is expected to start June 15. The Monticello mall site is situated off Exit 106 on the Quickway on old Route 17.

The Newburgh project will be similar in size to the Kingston mall and will be located off the interstate 84 near Thruway Exit 17 at the intersection of Union Avenue Extension and Meadow Hill Road. The Newburgh mall will be constructed on the same timetable as the one in Kingston.

Both the Kingston and Newburgh malls are expected to open in the spring in time for Easter shopping.

Construction of Mammoth Mall will provide a great boon to the economy of the Kingston area and is expected to create many new jobs for the local labor force. In addition, the added assessment in property value will broaden the tax base of the Town of Ulster which will also reflect in the $4,528,000 sewer project which is expected to get underway next year.

Musialkiewicz Elated

Commenting on the new shopping facility, Ulster Supervisor Musialkiewicz said the project will be a big asset to the community. He said he was elated that Mammoth chose the Town of Ulster to locate.

Musialkiewicz said with the existing shopping facilities in the township and the addition of Mammoth, the Town of Ulster will have a drawing potential of shoppers from a 50 to 60 mile radius. He said the new facility with the existing shopping malls will bring shoppers from all over the area and from across the river. The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge provides easy access to the entire shopping area along Albany Avenue Extension, the supervisor said.

Adelstein speaking of the potential of the area said Mammoth placed a huge sign in front of the drive-in property advertising the project on Friday. Since that time he has received 18 phone calls from businessmen interested in site locations, Adelstein said.

Chamber of Commerce Installation

Sewerage to Jetports the Topics in Rhinebeck

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
Everything from sewerage to jetports was discussed at the recent installation meeting of Rhinebeck Chamber of Commerce.

These points and others were mentioned at the meeting called for the annual installation ceremony of officers. Installed were Helen Z. Battistoni, president; Dr. P. T. Chin, vice president; John Ackerman, secretary; and James Loftus, treasurer. Herman Tietjen is the outgoing president.

No Concrete Proposals

Mrs. Battistoni explained that no concrete proposals on the jetport in the central Hudson Valley have been made as yet by any government agency. In a statement by Commissioner of Transportation J. Burch McMorran, she read the Department has no plans for the development of any aviation facilities in the Rhinebeck area. Apparently certain information in the Department publication "Policies and Plans for Transportation in New York State" erroneously created the impression that the Department is embarking upon the development of an airport in the Mid-Hudson Valley. Such is not the case.

The publication in question did, however, designate this approximate area as a "non-priority" spot for future location of a possible cargo jet airport. No confirmed plans were mentioned. Jonah Sherman, president of the Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker for the occasion. Sherman pointed out some of the "growth attracting" features of Rhinebeck, mentioning the Dutchess County Fair, the Astor Home, the Beekman Arms, Foster's Coach House, the Old Rhinebeck Aerodrome, good schools, a fine hospital. He stressed the fact that these facilities should be developed to their fullest potential.

Mentions Apathy

Sherman mentioned that the apathy apparent in the Rhinebeck Chamber, inability to find enough active members, is a common problem. He thought that the "businessman owes some kind of active help to the community from which he derives his livelihood."

Four goals of the Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce were brought out as ideals. To create better understanding and appreciation of commerce; to promote the resolution of problems within the community which tend to stifle the growth of a town; to promote the civil, social, and cultural growth of the community; and to discover and correct, whenever possible, any abuses which tend to slow commercial expansion.

Sherman found the lack of a sewerage system in the village unbelievable, asking if the residents "were waiting until someone gets sick." The absence of any sewerage system has long been a sore point in the village. A high water table floods many basements in the spring, and a conglomeration of cesspools under the streets prompted one citizen to remark that the "whole village is floating on its waste products."

"No money" has been the answer of the administrations thus far. Mayor Sipperley has said that if development of Beekman Acres is accomplished that the village, in combination with any development and the Northern Dutchess Hospital, would be able to foot its share of the expense. This possibility is still in the future, however.

Gardiner In Hands Of Marist

By BRUCE KAUFMANN

GARDINER
Students from Marist College will co-ordinate the summer recreation program for the Town of Gardiner, according to Dr. Virgil Dewitt, chairman of the town recreation commission.

The details of the program were outlined in an agreement, worked out earlier this week between the recreation commission and Marist College.

According to the agreement four students and one adult affiliated with the college will live in the town for the duration of the eight week program which starts on June 30 and concludes on August 23.

They will coordinate the entire program which will include arts, outdoor sports, swimming, weekly bus trips, fishing and many other organized activities. There will also be a teen center setup at a location in the town.

Funds for the recreation program, which will be open to all young people in the town, are provided by the town with some federal assistance.

However, according to Dr. DeWitt, because of the need for additional funds "a letter will be mailed to all residents of the town in the near future explaining the program and asking for additional financial help."

Dr. DeWitt will also seek the assistance of town residents in order to provide housing for the program coordinators.

Red Hook's Amendments Set
RED HOOK
Amendments to the much disputed Red Hook Mobile Home Ordinance "will be ready Monday night," according to Town Supervisor Warren Simmons.

Simmons explained that Albert Trazza, town attorney, has been working on the changes necessary. "Most of it involves a minor wording changes," said Simmons.

Blistering fire was recorded at the public hearing from a minority of those present before the Town Board passed the controversial ordinance several weeks ago. The amendments will attempt to make the ordinance defensible in court, should anyone attempt to defy the validity of it.

"Should the amendments be ready Monday evening, we will call a special Town Board meeting," added Simmons.

Too Hot to Walk
BARI, Italy (UPI)—Rescue boats roared toward Karl Akselberg, 22, when the sailor jumped into the harbor, but they turned back to their moorings when he began swimming toward his ship. The Norwegian said it was too hot to walk the length of the pier.

Unite and Rebuild-- Bunting Call to GOP

Clifford V. Bunting, a Republican candidate for his party's mayoral nomination, today called on the enrolled Republicans of Kingston to unite and help rebuild the party.

Bunting said, "We are the majority party in the city of Kingston. It is our responsibility to unite and provide the spark of leadership necessary so that our city may be a place of beauty, comfort and pride for our citizens, the first order of business for any Republican must be to rebuild the party from the grassroots," Bunting said.

The Wall Street merchant continued, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party. Trite, but true. I need every man and woman in the Republican party to help me carry our banner to victory in November. It is time for a change. Together we can bring rational government to Kingston in November."

Bunting goes further into what he terms rational planning for the city and offers: "I want rational planning for the City of Kingston. Over the past four years, two of our most important functionings have code whenever a developer is interested in putting up any kind of multiple dwelling, the other aspect that has been remarkably quiet is our City Charter Commission. Yes, we do have one; but one must look very hard to find its existence and its personnel. There has been no charter forthcoming over the last four years of Democratic Administration. The last charter that we heard from came forth from a by-partisan Committee set up by a Republican administration. It was defeated. However, there had been, at that time, a unanimity of opinion that there was a desperate need for a revised charter for the City of Kingston. Our last Charter was written in late 1890's."

The Republican Party has always been the party of the people for the City of Kingston. I stand for Progressive Republican leadership. This includes, as part of my platform, adequate housing for everyone. A decent job for every citizen of the city, and developing the city to make a better place in which to live, work, and bring up a family," Bunting concluded.

SAUGERTIES The Town and Village of Saugerties facing a May 31 deadline momentarily solved the problem of where they would dump garbage and refuse after dumping privileges run out at the Woodstock landfill site on the former Cashdollar property.

There were these developments reported today:

Saugerties Village Mayor Cornelius M. Cox said the village had purchased about 18 or 19 acres of the Cantine property off Ulster Avenue, the site of the former village dump. The price is reported to be more than $30,000.

Two Forms of Action

The Town of Saugerties took two forms of action. Town Attorney Louis P. Francello was authorized to contact Woodstock officials and seek an extension to July 1 in order to continue negotiations or find another dumping site.

The Town Board at its special meeting last night authorized the town attorney to secure an option of the Charles Keefe property, about 40 acres in the Town of Saugerties adjacent to the former Cashdollar site.

Meanwhile, the mayor said the County Health Department has approved the village site, the village equipment to be used and the method of landfill. He said the Village Public Works Department is currently working on the access road and excavations for the landfill and hope to be ready for business Monday.

Mayor Cox said the village action was necessary when the initial fees for dumping privileges at the Woodstock landfill were made known. The village received a two months bill from the Town of Woodstock for about $1,200. The mayor noted that Woodstock planned to charge the village 80 cents per capita on an annual basis. Based on the 1960 census listed for the village at 4,286 the annual fee would be $3,428.

This is in sharp conflict with the $1,200 two month charge which would total $7,200 for the year. However it was reported that this initial charge was based on initial costs incurred by Woodstock in preparing the landfill site.

Look to Future

Looking to the future, there is also a great possibility that the 1970 census will be higher and this would increase the cost.

Saugerties Town Board also objected to the charges for privileges at the former Cashdollar dump imposed by Woodstock. The town received a bill of $3,017.70 for two months which they refused to pay.

On the 80 per cent capital basis the township with a 1960 population reported at 13,608 would be charged $10,886 annually. This is also in sharp contrast with the initial charges which would have come to $18,106.20 per year.

After several fruitless discussions the Town of Woodstock ordered the dump closed to both the town and village at midnight May 1.

In a combined court action the town and village filed a show cause order in State Supreme Court and received a stay until the matter was heard in court.

At the May 9 hearing, the court advised all three parties to "talk things over" and a new hearing was set for May 22. At the later hearing Supreme Court Justice Edward S. Conway set a deadline of May 31 for the parties to reach an agreement. After that time the Woodstock landfill would be closed to both Saugerties political subdivisions.

Since that time both the villages and town have been seeking alternate landfill sites.

Both the village and town contended in their action that they had dumping privileges under existing contracts with the former owner of the dump, Albert Cashdollar of Woodstock.

The town contract expires March 1972, the village contract on December 1971.

The Town of Woodstock contended in court that under the state law banning burning as of Jan. 1, the operation at the former Cashdollar property could no longer function as a dump and a changeover to landfill operation was necessary. This state mandate canceled the existing contracts, Woodstock contended.

RED HOOK

The cases of 45 persons arrested May 8 at Bard College are "still in adjournment," said Red Hook Justice Frank B. Martin Tuesday night.

"We have to wait until the stuff gets back from the laboratories," he explained, referring to the "two or three large boxes of material" taken at the time of the raid.

The hearings, which were scheduled to come up last Saturday and continue through this week, have been held off in consecutive 48 hour adjournments until the laboratory results can be processed and returned to the court.

Yorty Reelected to 3rd Term Upsetting Pollsters Once Again

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Bradley in the mayoralty primary less than two months ago.

Yorty campaigned in the face of public opinion polls that up to the end forecast a Bradley victory by margins ranging from five to 15 per cent.

"You have helped us to come back from certain defeat to what looks like a certain victory," Yorty told cheering supporters at his campaign headquarters.

Bradley refused to concede defeat in a speech to his supporters shortly after 1 a.m. and went to bed.

City Clerk Rex Layton estimated that close to 80 per cent of the 1,127,224 registered voters had cast ballots in a record-smashing turnout.

It was the greatest vote for a municipal election in Los Angeles history. The previous high was 66 per cent in the primary election of the same mayoral race April 1.

Los Angeles voters gave their verdict after a bruising campaign in which Bradley's race was a major factor.

Yorty urged voters to "keep Los Angeles the way we want it." He predicted mass resignations from the largely white police department if Bradley—a retired police lieutenant—captured the mayor's office.

Bradley, the Texas born son of a Pullman car porter, trained his fire on alleged corruption during Yorty's second four-year term in City Hall.

Five of Yorty's appointees to city boards have been ousted on charges ranging from bribery to criminal conflict of interest.

Bradley emphasized his commitment to impartial law enforcement.

Bradley needed white votes to win. Negroes comprise only 17 per cent of the voters in Los Angeles, a far lower percentage than Cleveland and Gary, Ind., which have elected black mayors.

Officially, the election was nonpartisan, and neither candidate's name carried a party label on the ballot.

Actually Bradley got considerable help from Democratic professionals and organized labor. He was endorsed by powerful Democratic Assemblyman Jess Unruh, and by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Yorty, 59, was a Democrat whose maverick political behavior has offended party leaders in the past. He supported Richard Nixon for president against John F. Kennedy in 1960, and tried to unseat former Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the Democratic primary in 1966.

Nixon's Postal Reforms -- Special Delivery, But...

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's urgent postal reform legislation is assured special delivery to Capitol Hill but its trip through Congress may be slower than a footsore mailman.

Potential opposition from bulk mailers and postal unions—the politicians' version of snow and rain and heat and gloom of night—may stay Nixon's bill from swift completion of its appointed rounds.

The mailers and the unions, who fear the loss of gains they fought for in Congress, pose the greatest opposition to the reform plan.

"The unions are going to have to be convinced that the situation under the new arrangement will be as good or better than what they now have," Rep. Morris K. Udall said.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, however, struck a hopeful note on the union opposition.

"While they haven't formally endorsed it (the reform plan), we did have very fruitful discussions," Blount said.

House Speaker John W. McCormack called the proposal to convert the Post Office Department into a government owned, self-sustaining corporation. "A subject for long-range consideration."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan conceded the administration changes "a selling job on postal employees and the Congress."

Rep. Udall, D-Ariz., a high ranking member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee and a supporter of the President's plan, commented: "I have to say in all frankness the outlook is dim this year."

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., second-ranking Democrat on the Senate Post Office Committee, has announced his opposition to the postal corporation plan.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen said to expect opposition from rank-and-file GOP officials who resent losing postal patronage.

Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski of the House Post Office Committee has his own reform plan that would retain tight Congressional control over the postal service.

Man Dies, 100 Injured

Smoke Disables Train in Tunnel

NEW YORK (AP) — An electrical fire billowing clouds of acrid smoke disabled a Penn Central commuter train in a Hudson River tunnel, forcing passengers to walk a half mile to safety. One man was killed and 10 persons were injured.

Coughing and choking on the blue-gray smoke, most of the more than 20 passengers climbed out of the stalled train Tuesday evening and groped through the darkness on a concrete catwalk to the New Jersey end of the tunnel.

The dead man was identified as William J. Thompson, 63, of Rahway, N.J., an off-duty conductor. He had stepped off the train, then was struck by it, apparently as it lurched backward after coming to a stop, police said.

Two Hospitalized

At the tunnel end in North Bergen, N.J., the passengers streamed out after their 20-minute walk. Most of the injured were treated for smoke inhalation and minor cuts. Only two were hospitalized.

"We walked holding onto the guard rail," said Robert Watterson, a passenger. "You couldn't see anything, but we heard encouraging voices saying, 'Keep moving, keep moving'."

Most everybody agreed there was no panic on the four-car, New Brunswick-bound train which had left Penn Station at 6:55 p.m. "It was amazing to me that the people kept their cool," said Art Mumdiss, 27, of Metuchen, N.J., a passenger.

The fire halted all traffic through the tunnel for several hours until the disabled train was pushed through by a heavy-duty engine dispatched from New York.

A Penn Central spokesman said the fire was caused by a faulty electrical mechanism. Watterson said, "There was a flash and a lot of smoke very quickly from the back" of the electrically powered train.

For passengers in the first car, the initial hint of something wrong came when they caught the acrid odor of smoke. Several persons pulled the emergency alarm and the motorman halted the train.

One man opened the window hoping to bring in fresh air but it only served to allow more smoke outside to pour into the car.

Soon the passengers were scrambling out windows and through doors onto the catwalk where the only illumination came from the occasional red-green traffic control signals.

Some lighted a rolled-up newspaper for a torch but quickly pitched it down onto the tracks and made no effort to light another. One man used a butane-fueled cigarette lighter to show the way.

Single Fire

The line on the catwalk moved slowly in single file. "We tailgated each other," said Guy Ewings, 32. "We held on to each other's coattails."

When the first passenger emerged from the tunnel, some climbed a steep embankment to call police and other emergency services.

The railroad sent another train to pick up the passengers and take them to Newark where those needing medical attention were transferred to ambulances.

The two persons hospitalized were Paul Salomone, 18 Lori Road, Monmouth Beach, N.J., listed in fair condition at St. James Hospital in Newark; and Rita Buccino, 48, of 60 Parkway Drive, Orange, N.J., listed in fair condition at North Hudson Hospital, Weehawken, N.J.

CARRY OUT VICTIM — The body of railroad conductor William J. Thompson is carried from a tunnel linking New York and New Jersey late Tuesday after fire broke out aboard a Penn Central Railroad train, temporarily trapping hundreds of commuters. At least 80 passengers, many of them carried in on stretchers, were treated for smoke inhalation. The train was under the Hudson River when the fire started. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Congress Gets $2.6 Billion Aid Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, after taking steps to seek bipartisan support, had a $2.6 billion foreign aid request to present to Congress today.

Nixon's program calls for a partial revamping of the U.S. overseas assistance effort, but a more far-reaching overhaul of foreign aid will await a study by a blue-ribbon review group the President plans to appoint, administration sources said.

Technical assistance and private investment in developing countries abroad were items marked for special emphasis in the new administration's first message on the controversial foreign aid issue.

Below LBJ Proposal

The $2.28 billion in economic and $375 million in military aid in Nixon's budget is $62 million below former President Lyndon B. Johnson's aid proposal for the coming fiscal year.

But it also totals some $90 million more than what the legislators voted last year—and some economy minded congressmen, including Republicans, have served notice they intend to slice into the new President's program.

Nixon called in both Democratic and Republican congressional leaders Tuesday for a White House meeting on his program. Last year the lawmakers dismayed the executive branch by slashing nearly $1.2 billion from President Johnson's request.

Administration officials said Nixon has decided on only moderate changes in the Agency for International Development—AID—the organization set up by the Kennedy administration at the start of the decade to run the aid program.

The administration sources look for more changes in Nixon's next aid program next year after the special committee has completed its study.

Both money and bureaucratic reorganization are involved in the new emphasis on technical assistance to underdeveloped nations.

Nixon was expected to earmark $463 million to apply U.S. skills for foreign economic development, compared with $224.5 million under the last Johnson program. And plans are underway for a special bureau in AID to handle technical assistance.

New Federal Agency

In the private investment field, the proposal is to establish a new federal agency which would be a public corporation. The corporation, to be governed by a joint government-private board of directors, would specialize in promoting private investment in developing countries.

The corporation is expected to self-finance through earnings from such activities as insurance fees and loan repayments.

An office within AID now performs such activities. To back up the new corporation, the Nixon program would include a special $75 million appropriation the first year.

Governor Signs Bill

Four New 3-Day Holiday Weekends

By JOHN L. CONSIDINE
ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Four new three-day holiday weekends including two in October, were guaranteed today under legislation approved by Governor Rockefeller.

The changes would involve switching Washington's Birthday from Feb. 22 to the third Monday in February; Memorial Day from May 30 to the last Monday in May; Columbus Day from Oct. 12 to the second Monday in October and Veterans Day from Nov. 11 to the fourth Monday in October.

Effective in 1971

The law, effective Jan. 1, 1971, conforms with federal legislation approved by Congress last year.

Rockefeller also approved a bill easing some of the more stringent regulations adopted earlier this year concerning medicare services and hospital rates.

The 200-day limit on nursing home care for medicare patients was removed so that the state health commission can allow longer stays where necessary. Another feature of the bill calls for creation of a statewide program of hospital cost controls. The cost of care must be "reasonably related" to the cost of the service performed.

Rockefeller said the bill gives the state a better opportunity to cope with the rising cost of medicare and hospital services.

In determining rate schedules, including Blue Cross plans, the health commissioner would take into consideration such factors as geography, economy and growth factors.

The commissioner, with the assistance of the hospital review and planning council, would set up uniform accounting and cost finding systems to be used by the various classes of hospitals. The measure also cuts the length of the "freeze" in hospital rates enacted earlier this year from June 30, 1971 to Dec. 31, 1969. The rates were set on March 31, 1969.

Also Figures in Action

Anti-crime legislation also figured in the governor's action on bills.

Rockefeller signed into law legislation:

— Increasing the penalties for robbery and burglary where firearms are displayed by the defendant. The measure also makes "mugging" the crime of second degree robbery where the victim suffers physical injury. Up to now, mugging was a third class burglary except where serious injury occurred. Robbery or burglary in which a firearm is displayed becomes a class B felony punishable by up to 25 years in prison.

— Making cigarette bootlegging, a $40 million a year racket, a more serious crime. Trafficking in unstamped or unlawfully stamped cigarettes becomes a class E felony punishable by up to four years in prison. The bill amends the state tax law and the administrative code of New York City. A second bill extends to police officers the right to seize illicit cigarettes or vending machines containing such cigarettes. Previously, a tax commission agent had to be on hand for the seizure when no arrest was made.

Other Approved Bills

— A special state commission is created to make a study of salaries and expenses of members of the legislature and the judiciary. The bill appropriates $75,000 for the study. The measure was approved on the closing day of the 1969 session. At present, lawmakers receive $15,000 in salary plus $3,000 in lieu of expenses, which some say is inadequate.

— Flash paper or water soluble paper would be considered a gambling record under a new law. It treats possession of nitrocellulose or flash paper and water soluble paper the same as having a gambling record such as those used to record horse bets and numbers.

Ulster College Facilities

The request of the Ulster County Community College Board of Trustees for an increase in the county's share of the budget in the amount of $475,000, with $150,000 going toward a swimming pool, and a lecture hall wing, and a kitchen in the Liberal Arts Building, will go before the Ulster County Legislators for a decision.

Concerned taxpayers, which should include all tax-paying residents of the county, who have supported a soundly planned and capably executed program of education since the opening of the junior college here in September, 1963, should now make known to their representatives whether or not they consider any or all of these items unwarranted, extravagant expenditures.

As we have stated before, an institute of higher education can succeed only with the complete understanding, support and mutual respect on the part of all segments of the community.

The questioning of expenditures for educational purposes and for all public services should not be left to certain groups, which very often turn out to be organized grumblers. It should not be a battleground between authorities and taxpayers associations. It is the legitimate function of the taxpaying public.

School taxpayers in recent years have demonstrated a growing rebellion at shouldering the burden of rapidly rising school costs at all levels. This is rightfully so, but it should not be on the basis of not understanding the real need for the expenditures.

In a letter urging support of a "full education program" for the students, College President Dr. Erbstein said the swimming pool would be used during the regular academic year on an average of 63 hours per week and during the summer 47 hours per week. The estimated cost of maintenance would be $3,590 per year and no additional faculty would be needed since existing faculty are qualified to teach as well as serve as life guards.

The main purpose of the pool is for instructional purposes and secondly for community service.

President Erbstein said that a recent survey showed that less than 15 per cent of the students enrolled in the recreation supervision program could swim when they began their program.

Ulster County Community College Trustees and administrators should not be frustrated and thwarted in their efforts to develop vitally needed permanent facilities. So don't reject the request just because it will raise the current budget. First determine to your own satisfaction whether the students and the community should have this generally accepted facility now rather than deferring it to a time when the costs might be greater.

Swimming is a recognized sport on the high school and college level. Because of this and its importance in the physical fitness program, we recommend the request be granted.

Code of Judicial Ethics

There has been criticism on the floor of Congress of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas as the president and sole paid official of The Albert Parvin Foundation, which until recently held $2 million of stock in Las Vegas gambling casinos. Such complaints highlight the fact that there is no legislated code of ethics for the judiciary.

Congress has grilled Cabinet and other appointees for high executive office. It has just begun to make financial disclosures of its own, under codes of ethics separately passed by the House and the Senate. But the only code of ethics for the judiciary is the code of the American Bar Association which is more concerned with conduct than finances.

Justice Douglas was paid $12,000 a year as president and director from 1962 through 1966. For 1967, he was paid $12,765. Returns for 1968 are not yet available, but the foundation's secretary-treasurer thought the payment was the same.

Douglas told a news gathering that the foundation is training "the future prime ministers of undeveloped countries in our democratic institutions." However, his 1967 salary equaled one-fourth of the grants made for scholarships that year.

It is noted that Albert B. Parvin was named by the government as an alleged co-conspirator in stock manipulation charges against jailed financier Louis E. Wolfson; whose family foundation paid former Justice Abe Fortas $20,000. Rep. H. R. Gross, Iowa Republican, pointed out that "the circumstances of the Fortas and Douglas fees are strikingly similar," and called for an investigation of Douglas' foundation role.

A code of ethics for the judiciary, requiring annual disclosures of income, seems long overdue.

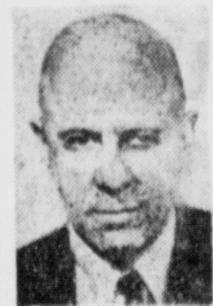

President Nixon called for prayer for permanent peace on Memorial Day. Permanent peace is what all Americans who fell in war in this century fought for. Such prayer will be a real tribute to them. And the President ordered the flag flown at half staff. Another tribute to the hero dead.

"Check the Gas, Oil, Tires, Battery, Brakes, Points, Wheels, Hood, Exhaust, Doors, Radio, Cigarette Lighter and Framus . . ."

David Lawrence Says

Is Weakness of Church Influence Cause of Unrest?

WASHINGTON — What has been one of the main causes of the widespread unrest and unhappiness in the United States — and in the rest of the world, too? Is it the weakness of church influence? As one seeks an answer, it seems incredible to read a UPI dispatch from London last Saturday telling of a formal recommendation that the world churches should support violence if it is the last way to overthrow political and economic tyranny. This was among the proposals of a six-day consultation on racism held in the British capital by the World Council of Churches. The document declared that "the church must be willing to be not only an institution of love, but also an institution of action, making inputs into societies to help effect a new balance of power that renders racism impotent."

But on the very next day, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, was reported in a UPI dispatch from Canterbury, England, to have said that the church was losing its influence in a troubled world. He declared: "Do we not see the church which we love so much having an impact on the country and the lives of the people so very much less than it ought to be?"

On last Sunday, coincidentally, President Nixon and a number of officials attended an interdenominational religious service in the east room of the White House conducted by Cardinal Cooke, Archbishop of New York, who quoted from St. Augustine: "I shall work as if everything depended on me; I shall pray as if everything depended upon God."

After the service, President Nixon told reporters, "that's the whole thing in a nutshell."

But this is not the entire story by any means. The newspapers tell of the meetings of young people on the campus and elsewhere who seem to think that the older generations do not understand the younger people. The Baltimore Sun, in an editorial on Monday, printed quotations from essays by a young man, published between 1911 and 1913, in which he wrote:

"The two generations misunderstand each other as they never did before . . ."

"We have become impatient with the conventional explanations of the older generation. We have retained since childhood the propensity to see through things, and to tell the truth with startling frankness. . . there are too many issues evaded which we would like to meet."

"More and more the clear-sighted youth are coming to see the appalling array of things that still need to be done. . . never was a time when there were so many radical young people who cared little about worldly success."

Criticism of our "world society" was often voiced in the 1940's and the 1950's. Indeed, in 1959, a book entitled "Power and Morality," written by two eminent professors of sociology — Sorokin and Luden — declared:

"A dispassionate observation of the preachings and practices of governments of the twentieth century clearly shows their complete failure in restraining the forces of death and destruction. . . international and civil wars have made this the bloodiest, most destructive, and most inhuman of the twenty-five centuries."

But what has really been missing? Obviously, the teachings of the Bible have not reached into the hearts of many young and old persons, here and abroad, as effectively as in necessary for a better world is to be built. Jesus, according to St. Mark, said:

"For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

It is not a question of sectarianism or denomination. All over the world, leaders of religious thought like Buddha, Confucius, Mohammed, as well as Moses and Jesus, have left a legacy worthy of acceptance as a code of living.

Could so many disturbances happen in the United States and various countries abroad if the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount had penetrated more deeply the minds of men, irrespective of age or color or religion? Jesus said, according to St. Luke:

"The kingdom of God cometh not with observation: Neither shall they say, lo, here! Or, lo, there! For, behold the kingdom of God is within you."

There are millions of people who are trying to live in accordance with what they believe is God's will. But there are minorities which brush aside the experience of the past and fail to seek in their inner selves the guidance from God that can make them better human beings and more and more helpful to each other in a troubled world.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The boating season begins now. Millions of outboards will crease the lakes from Maine to San Diego. Others — a little bigger, perhaps — will head for the open sea. There is a joy to sailing and fishing and moonlight drifting which approaches romance. And, like romance, it has inherent dangers which can destroy you. Instantaneously.

Sometimes I feel that I emphasize the negative side. But I have lost friends and they will not erase from the blackboard of my mind. True boating is playing it so safe that you do not give the water a chance. I knew a priest who bought a sailboat and took a dozen nuns out on a Jersey lake and I stood on the shore and knew he had never sailed a boat. He permitted a starboard wind to heel him over until the craft was taking running water over the gunwales.

The sisters laughed with delight and so did he. He was very close to 13 sudden deaths — those women could never have swam ashore in those heavy black habits, and yet, when he brought the boat back to the dock, the sisters, who spend a big part of their lives in God's vestibule, applauded. The sweat was standing on my forehead like phony diamonds.

Somewhat, a new boat owner has the impression that all he has to do is start the engine, open the throttle, and go as fast as he can to nowhere. This is not sailing.

It jars your teeth, strains your arches, and forces you to laugh with fright.

True sailing is slow and sneaky. On a lake with no wrinkles, ten knots of speed will give you a lovely breeze and a feeling that the boat is standing still as the water hurries by. On a smooth sea, a 35 footer can push 14 knots without ever doing anything more dramatic than to lift her bows, hold the position for a moment, and then drop back to the bottom of a groundswell. At high speed, a waterlogged spar can tear your boat apart.

On our Way We Go IV we use a system which may help those who go to sea. At the dock, the first thing done is by the captain — me. I do a walk around inspection from bow to stern to see that everything is in place. The anchors must be in their chocks; the hatches must be lifted to see how much water is in the bilges below; the foam fire fighters must be charged.

I will not sail in a vessel which hasn't got a good ship-to-shore telephone. If things go wrong, I want to be able to call for help in a hurry. I mark my position on a chart every hour. We have a main deck compass and a flying bridge compass — both Kelvin White — and they must agree with each other or we don't move from the dock. We have a loran set which can give us our exact position on the sea at any moment.

We also have a red monster down in the hull which is made by the Walter Kidde Company. This thing, which looks like a boiler, senses temperature and, if it goes too high, I may not know it. But the automatic fire extinguisher knows, and will spray foam through a half dozen nozzles all over the bottom of the boat and the engines.

A Coast Guard raft is kept on the forepeak for kids to sit on. It contains bottles of water, a small compass, two oars, and canned food. The engines are twin 238 horsepower Gray Marines, but we never race them. The boat can do 17 knots but it feels as though it is leaving the water, so we hold the speed down. Every hour, we run tests on all the safety gadgets, including the two bilge pumps. If there is a lot of water in the hull, we'd like to know why quickly.

And yet, with all the safety devices, with all the love of the sea in this family, goof now and then. I misjudged a northeast wind once while sailing from Florida to the Bahamas and it carried us south. After seven hours, I began to worry. To the north, I could see the superstructure of a tanker. "That's a ship," Kathi said. "That's a ship," I said. It was a hotel. It was the one at Lucaya we had been sailing for.

Drew Pearson Says Congressman Rivers Protects The Navy From Investigation

Supreme Court Ethics
On May 20, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that Chief Justice Earl Warren for six years has been quietly supporting a proposed law to set up a code of ethical conduct for the federal judiciary.

On May 22 the Chief Justice called a meeting of top federal judges for May 24, to begin drafting a code of ethics for all federal judges.

If completed, as Warren hopes, before he retires next month, this will become the first formal standard of conduct to be adopted by the federal judiciary.

WASHINGTON — One important illustration of why the military continues to ride roughshod over the civilian branches of government occurred on the floor of the House of Representatives last week.

It was a frenzied scene in which the white-haired, usually courtly Rep. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina rushed to the well of the House, grabbed the microphone and admonished senior Rep. George Mahon of Texas: "You are playing into the hands of the enemies of the military."

Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, is a powerful man. Hitherto, he had backed up Rivers' voting almost unlimited funds to the military, but he was fed up with military mistakes. However, Rivers is more powerful, in fact is one of the most powerful men in Congress. So later, Rivers and Mahon patched up their altercation and neatly deleted their heated words from the Congressional Record.

Nevertheless, the incident is extremely important and gets to the root of why the military get every cent they want while the cities and civilian branches of government are starved.

Rivers had not been drinking. He was cold sober, but full of cold anger in his defense of the generals and admirals. This was understandable, for they have cluttered his district with so many land, sea and air bases that it's impossible for any opponent ever to defeat him. In return for these favors, Rivers, as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, to a large degree is responsible for giving the generals and admirals the position of power and immunity they enjoy today.

It seems incredible that one man could have such power. Nevertheless, thanks to seniority and a largely docile, military-minded committee, Rivers wields this power. As a result, he has been able to prevent any penetrating investigation of various military mistakes.

Preventing Probes

Ordinarily the sinking of the submarine Guitaro alongside its dock would be the subject of an immediate, forthright, congressional probe. However, Rivers is the chairman of the committee entrusted with investigation. And he cajoled and bulldozed Mahon of Texas, a man of no mean congressional might, into changing his speech so that he called merely for "adequate discipline," not a court martial of those responsible for the sub's sinking.

Rivers went even further with Rep. William Moorhead of Pennsylvania, another respected Democrat, who had the temerity to investigate and reveal the $2.5 billion overcharge by Lockheed for the building of the C-5A. Peremptorily, Rivers "summoned" Moorhead to appear before the Armed Services Committee for a dressing-down.

When other Congressmen rallied to Moorhead's defense, Rivers withdrew his "summons." It was the first time in the memory of any Congressman that a colleague had been so arbitrary with another Congressman.

Nevertheless, the fact remains, despite these minor retreats, that Mendel Rivers is the single, most effective roadblock to scaling the military down to size from its privileged position.

The roll call of naval mistakes alone has been unprecedented. In addition to the mysterious sinking of the Guitaro, the Navy has lost two Polaris submarines, permitted the USS Pueblo to be seized for still unexplained reasons, lost the EC-121 off the North Korean coast when it should have been protected, experienced two disastrous fires on airplane carriers, let the USS Liberty get riddled with bullets and 34 men killed, off the coast of Egypt.

In addition, clearcut evidence has come from Raymond Perelman, a Philadelphia steel manufacturer, that defective steel plate has been supplied to the Navy for submarine manufacture without inspection. The Navy has not bothered to investigate, but has taken the highly unusual position of permitting the steel companies which manufacture the plate to make their own inspection.

Opponent of Investigations
None of the above errors has been properly investigated.

Rivers even blocked an investigation of the Cheyenne helicopter contract when Rep. Otis Pike of New York demanded it. Subsequently, the contract was canceled by the Army because of Lockheed's poor performance.

Rivers also badgered the top Pentagon officials into requiring jet planes for all military cargo. This almost went through, until Sen. Howard Cannon of Nevada pointed out that it would benefit one airline only, Overseas National Airways, at the expense of another, Saturn Airways. It turned out that George Tompkins, chairman of Overseas National, was a close friend of Rivers.

Rivers proclaimed that no one had done more for the U.S. Navy than Grumman Aircraft, whose work on the F-111B was so bad that production had to be stopped.

He railroaded the last Draft Act through the House after only two hours of debate just before midnight because he wanted to leave for the Paris Air Show the next morning.

Rivers has bulldozed multi-billion-dollar decisions through his committee without giving other members a chance to study or debate them. He has used the Air Force as his personal airline to commute to Charleston. He has summoned top brass to South Carolina to celebrate such memorable events as Mendel Rivers Day or the unveiling of a Mendel Rivers monument.

He has been briefed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the CIA director on the nation's most guarded secrets, even though he indulges from time to time in alcoholic binges which send him to Bethesda Naval Hospital to be dried out. Any State or Defense Department official who is an alcoholic is automatically fired as a security risk.

But two years ago, when this column gave details on Rivers' alcoholic bouts, a succession of Congressmen rose on the floor to pay him tribute.

GOP

Students — 'New Breed'

One in 5 Tried Marijuana; Pre-Marital Sex Approved

By GEORGE H. GALLUP, JR. and JOHN O. DAVIES, III

Copyright, 1969, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N.J., May 28 — Results of a nationwide survey of college students leave little doubt that students today are indeed a "new breed."

Representative of this new breed is a highly vocal Yale student who said, "We are disenchanted with the ideologies of the adult population today, with their belief that a large bulk says something important about one's self. The urge of people for self aggrandizement repels us. Furthermore we don't go along with the 'hard work mystique' — the notion that if one works hard he is therefore a good person."

Today's report is the second in a series of three on student disorders. The first report, published yesterday, showed that the majority of students agree with the basic goals of the militants but not the tactics. The report also indicated a great desire on the part of students for radical change in society and for a larger say in the running of colleges and in academic matters. The third and final part of the series, to be published tomorrow, will deal with the politics of college students.

Interviews with college students across the nation — in private institutions, such as Harvard University, in state-supported institutions, such as Ohio State University, and in denominational or church related colleges, such as Notre Dame University — provide ample evidence that students today are different from earlier generations of college students in these six important respects:

1. Use of drugs. One student in every five (22 per cent) says he has tried marijuana. Less stigma seems to be attached to the use of marijuana now than one year ago — many students admit to taking marijuana as readily as they do to drinking beer.

Those who have used marijuana are far more likely to be men than women, and are more likely to come from higher income families.

A large majority of students (73 per cent) think that a student found taking drugs such as marijuana should not be expelled. "I can't see anything wrong with taking pot," said a Rutgers freshman, brushing a lock of hair from his face. "People do a lot worse things when they're drunk than when they're 'high' on marijuana."

One student in ten (10 per cent) says he has taken a barbiturate and four in one hundred have tried LSD. As for expelling students found taking LSD, a slight majority say "no" (53 per cent), with some saying that such students should be helped, not expelled.

2. Attitude toward sex. Two out of every three college students (66 per cent) think it is not wrong for men and women to have pre-marital sex relations, with 72 per cent of college males holding this view and 55 per cent of women.

A majority of students in both public and private colleges say sex before marriage is not wrong, but a majority of denominational college students hold the opposite view.

3. Dress and appearance. The most obvious difference between today's students and students of previous years is in their dress and appearance. Many students consciously affect a slovenly appearance to drive home their anti-establishment, non-conformist point of view.

Historians of the future, who will want to take account of the customs and foibles of college students in 1969, will find the following facts about dress and appearance helpful:

Appearance and Dress
(Based on tabulations by interviewers)

6 per cent of college males have beards.

28 per cent of college male have long sideburns.

13 per cent of all students dress in a slovenly manner (19 per cent of men and 6 per cent of women).

Beards, sideburns, and sloppy clothes appear to be somewhat more prevalent in the East than in other major regions of the country and are much more likely to be found among students in public and private colleges than on denominational campuses.

Long Hair Is Badge

Not only are beards, sideburns, sloppy clothing and long hair the current mode, they are also tend to be symbols. A Yale student explained, "To a certain extent, long hair and casual clothes are a badge telling people that we are part of the new and swinging generation — that we are out to conquer great wrongs in the world." Another student suggested that the longer the hair, the more radical the person's politics.

Is the present college vogue of beards, sideburns, long hair and sloppy clothes just a fad, or is it a trend that will continue?

When this question was put to the sample of college students, 51 per cent answered "just a fad" while 41 per cent held the opposite opinion. "These things go in cycles," said one student.

Memorial Day Ceremonies and Parade to Honor Veterans

KINGSTON

Memorial Day ceremonies in Kingston will be conducted Friday 2 p.m. at Academy Green and will be followed by a six-division parade down Broadway to Hasbrouck Avenue.

The annual observance sponsored by Kingston Veterans Association will honor both living and deceased veterans of the wars of the United States.

Kingston Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan will deliver the Memorial Day address during the afternoon rites at Academy Green.

William H. Jordan, prominent local veteran and holder of the Silver Star, has been named grand marshal of the parade. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in February 1916 at the age of 14 and served in Company C, 107th Infantry of the 27th Division. In addition to the Silver Star, the second highest award for bravery, he holds a Purple Heart with cluster. He has numerous citations for bravery for repeated demonstrations of courage and service under constant enemy fire during World War I.

Jordan also holds the Mexican Border Service medal, the New York State Conspicuous Service Cross and has a citation from the French government for heroism in saving women and children under shell fire at St. Soupt in France.

Jordan holds membership in five area veterans organizations, including Joyce-Schirich Post 1386, VFW; American Legion Post 150, Kingston; St. Ignatius Loyola Post 1769, Catholic War Veterans, and is a commander of Company M, Veterans Association and Pangburn-McBroom Barracks 864, Veterans of World War I.

The parade will follow immediately after the ceremonies and will proceed on Albany Avenue to Broadway, down Broadway, left into Delaware Avenue, and Culver, CWO USN (Ret.) will make the introductions. The opening prayer will be by the Rev. Joan G. Russell, chaplain of the American Legion and Catholic War Veterans. The closing prayer will be offered by Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, chaplain of VFW.

Migration to Paris Begins
For Congressional Members

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In what could be record numbers, House members today begin a migration to Paris where they'll spend about a week—and at least $50 a day—attending an international air show.

Most will embark Saturday morning from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., in a military Boeing 707 airliner.

But advance groups were scheduled to leave tonight and Thursday via commercial airlines.

Exactly how many lawmakers, wives and staff aides will make up the party, their identified and their missions were not known. The Pentagon, providing the transportation, and the State Department, handling other arrangements, declined to provide details, directing questioners to Congress.

Information on Capitol Hill was something less than abundant.

At least three House committees—Science and Astronautics, Armed Services and Commerce—are sending "official representatives." The committees involved seemed unable to come up with a full roster of those attending. "Several" was the term most frequently employed.

There are 101 members on the three committees.

L. Mendel Rivers, D.S.C., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, in the words of his chief counsel, J. Russell Blandford, considers the show a rare opportunity to see the latest in Soviet and other foreign aviation developments.

While in Paris, members of the U.S. delegation will receive up to $50 a day for living expenses. The total of government funds will go beyond the per diem payments. The U.S. Embassy will spend an unknown amount for receptions and other events.

Affairs of the Heart

ROME (UPI)—Roman newspapers had a field day Tuesday speculating over Dr. Christian Bernard's affairs of the heart.

The heart transplant pioneer surgeon arrived to vacation with German oilman Fritz Zoellner and his shapely daughter, Barbara. The papers linked Bernard romantically with her, and published large picture of the woman wearing a mini-bikini. Bernard's wife is divorcing him. Bernard also has been linked with Gina Lollobrigida.

Two Area Women Hurt in Accidents

RHINEBECK — Two local area women were injured and hospitalized Tuesday night as the result of two separate traffic mishaps, one on the Thruway south of Catskill and the other on Route 9 in Rhinebeck.

Ariene F. Powers, 20 of Brooklyn Heights Road, Red Hook is reported in satisfactory condition in Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie where she was transferred from Northern Dutchess Hospital. Rhinebeck state police reported she suffered a fractured pelvis and a fractured and lacerated skull. She was driving alone at the time.

The occupants in the other car involved in the mishap were reported uninjured by troopers.

Mrs. Catherine Thorne, 45 is reported in satisfactory condition today at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill. Trooper John L. Schmidt said the Guilfoil vehicle was proceeding south on Route 9 when the Powers car entered the highway from Fox Hollow Road and the cars were in vehicle with a house trailer collision. The mishap occurred at 8:50 p.m.

In the Thruway report the mother of a Highland family of four was the only one reported injured.

Injuries Fatal To Dorian Boy

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UPI) — Timothy McSpirt, 9, of RD-1, Mayfield, died in Ellis Hospital Tuesday night from injuries received in a highway accident last Sunday.

Police said the boy was walking along Route 30 when he was struck by a car driven by Walter Larowe, 74, of Northville.

Her husband, Leroy Thorne, 48 suffered lacerations of the hands and bruises to the hands and legs. The children, Charlotte, 8 and Roger 2½ suffered lacerations and bruises.

Trooper W. A. Dorsch reported the Thorne car with trailer was proceeding north on the super highway when the passing of a tractor trailer caused the house trailer to sway. Mrs. Thorne started to lose control and applied the brakes. The house trailer fishtailed, separated from the vehicle and overturned. The car continued into and over guard rails down a 25-foot embankment, the trooper reported.

SEVENTH FOR MICKEY — Actor Mickey Rooney, 48, wed his 7th bride, Carolyn Hockette, 25, of Columbus, Ohio at 2:30 a. m. in ceremonies at the Courthouse Chapel in Las Vegas, Nevada. The well known performer, who is currently appearing at the Fremont Hotel in downtown Las Vegas, stated that they had previously been married in Mexico on April 12, 1969. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

KINGSTON — A fraudulent check charge against City Judge Hubert A. Richter was dropped. Cook pleaded not guilty today in court and had his case postponed until June criminal trespass charge. A 3.

Bruck Counters With Questions for Dye

By LYNN MULVANEY KINGSTON

A counter attack was launched today against Douglas Dye, majority leader of the Ulster County Legislature, who until now has been the sole attacker in the GOP Second District Legislative Primary race.

Committee member Edward R. Bruck, one of the supposed targets of Dye's "bossism" charge, countered today with a battery of questions for Dye to answer with regard to his previous allegations.

Dye was not among the five candidates selected at a March Republican Convention during which candidates were named to seek Second District seats.

PERB Ready, Would Help In Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK — A spokesman for the board of education, at Rhinebeck Central School said today that he "did not know what the results of the contract negotiation deadlock would be."

The Rhinebeck Teacher's Association has informed the State Public Employees Board of an impasse on four points in the negotiations for next year, including salary and grievance procedures.

Would it be possible that the upcoming budget voting date might be altered, due to this lack of agreement?

"It happened in Highland," said the spokesman. The budget voting date is June 11. A solid salary budget cannot be put to the voters until negotiations are settled.

Upon contacting the Public Employment Relations Board in Albany, Freeman spoke to Richard Whalen, who said that "this has not crossed my desk yet, but when it does, and if a request for assistance is enclosed, we will send a mediator. If this does not work out, then a fact-finder will be assigned to the case. His job is to take testimony, and attempt to resolve the necessary steps to be taken."

The Teachers In Saugerties Agree to PERB

SAUGERTIES — Saugerties Teachers Association has agreed to all recommendations in the State Public Employees Relations Board fact-finder's report and this information has been forwarded to Saugerties Central School Board of Education.

The agreement was reported in a statement today from the Professional Advancement Committee of the Teachers Association.

The statement said the negotiators for the teachers met Sunday afternoon with Dr. Egon Plager, fact-finder and agreed to his recommendations regarding the class size-load section and had presented a counter proposal within the financial guidelines of his report.

Exams Okayed For Defendants In Mutiny Trial

FORT ORD, Calif. (UPI)—An Army court-martial board has ruled that eight defendants in a mutiny trial, including an upstate New Yorker, may be given new psychiatric examinations.
Law officer James, Hagen granted the Army's request on Tuesday but stipulated that no information elicited from the prisoners could be admitted in the trial if it conflicted with earlier testimony.
Defense attorney Terence Hallinan objected that the new examination would be "an out of court cross-examination" of the defendants, who are among 14 soldiers being tried on charges that developed from a sit-in at the San Francisco Presidio stockade last October.
The defendants to be re-examined by Army psychiatrists include Pvt. Ernest Trefethen of Getzville, Erie County.
The defense has argued that Welfare . . .

the clientele of federal-supported public assistance. When Congress enacted the first program of aid for dependent children, the record indicates it was thinking mainly about poor widows and orphans. Children who were the offspring of broken marriages—or of no marriage at all—were not prominently mentioned.

Congress has been disturbed by the possibility that welfare rolls are larded with loafers content to live on relief even when jobs are plentiful. Although an investigation concluded that only 50,000 of the 7.3 million persons receiving welfare benefits in 1966 were able-bodied men who could work or be trained for jobs, Congress did not accept that as the last word.

Instead, it set up a new job training program called WIN and required that AFDC mothers take part in it. A precondition was that the states provide day care services for the children of working mothers. This has delayed the program and it is expected to involve only 130,000 mothers and dependent teenagers in the current fiscal year.

Another Problem

Another problem has been the costs of welfare administration and other services apart from actual cash payments to the poor. In fiscal 1968, these costs approached $700 million for the federal and state governments. Economist Edwin Kuh of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology recently estimated AFDC administrative costs at one dollar for every seven spent.

On top of all these headaches, it does not seem that the welfare system is achieving its goals for anyone.

Back in 1935, it was thought that public assistance outlays would go down as social security coverage and benefits went up and as the economy recovered from the Great Depression. The sharp rise in Aid For Dependent Children blasted that theory.

Nor has public assistance lifted all its beneficiaries out of poverty. A 1965 census survey showed that 31 per cent of the households receiving welfare were below the officially designated poverty line.

Finally, the programs certainly have not tranquilized the poor.

Welfare clients have grown militant and, in the eyes of some Americans, far less grateful than is seemly for people who are "getting something for nothing." The rise of crime and violence in big city black ghettos has bolstered this feeling of resentment in the better off, mostly white, suburbs.

Endangerment Charged to Two

NEW PALTZ
Marie Pat Jimenez, 21, of River Road, Tillson and Russell Simon, 19, of Rome, were arrested by village police here early this morning after police said the two left a four-month-old baby boy alone in a car parked on Church Street for almost four hours.

Patrolman Richard Thompson said he was called to the parked car at 9:40 p. m. Tuesday by residents who said a baby was crying in the car. He said he watched the car until 1 a. m. this morning, when the two, charged with "endangerment of the welfare of a child," returned.

They were taken before Justice Rexford Schneider and released on bail of $250 each. They were scheduled to return to court at a later date.

Thompson said he had the infant taken to Kingston Hospital for care until the two were released on bail.

UCCC Building on Schedule

STONE RIDGE
"Right on schedule" was the theme of reports given by Dr. George B. Erbstein, president of Ulster County Community College at the board of trustees meeting Tuesday night at the Stone Ridge campus.

The construction on the Jacob Hardenbergh engineering technology building is 30 per cent complete and is on schedule for the anticipated completion for the fall semester. Also on schedule is the accreditation proceedings with the Middle States Commission on Higher Education. Dr. Erbstein said that the evaluation team will be on campus for that part of the process in November.

The board of trustees received a number of complimentary letters on the college supplement published in the Kingston Freeman April 8. In addition to letters from college presidents, one was received from State Senator Jay P. Rolison.

Davis Hits Gallo on Drug Council

Kingston's Republican nominee for Alderman at Large, Burton C. Davis has criticized the current alderman-at-large for not acting in the best interests of the city.

Davis said, "On April 28, 1969, James J. Tyrrell, mayoral nominee of the unofficial Republican City Convention, sent a letter to then acting mayor T. Robert Gallo. That letter recommended that the establishment of a Narcotics Guidance Council be brought before the Common Council."

"But the Acting Mayor did assume, act on this proposal? not act on this suggestion. In Why didn't he bring it before the Common Council at its regular May meeting? There was time enough. Perhaps it was because the suggestion mentioned in the Durvea Bill, Nor is any other law enforcement agency. The Narcotics Guidance Council is for just that purpose — guidance — not an agency for investigation or prosecution. Why didn't our alderman at large, in the position of acting mayor which he so readily Davis said.

Many Honors Won By Local Jaycees

SAUGERTIES The annual election convention of the State Jaycees held recently in Buffalo was attended by 22 Saugerties Jaycees and 18 wives. This convention's primary purpose is to elect new state officers, honor individual Jaycees and honor Jaycee Chapters that have done outstanding jobs during the past year. Highlight of the convention was the election of Frank W. Antalek of Saugerties Jaycees to the office of state president. Men elected to this position have traditionally come from outstanding Jaycee locals. The Saugerties Jaycees were the recipients of many awards in Buffalo showing that Saugerties is one of the outstanding locals in the state. Of the 230 Jaycee locals in the state, Saugerties finished the year ranking number five in overall accomplishments. They received two first place awards in inter-club relations and project of the year (for their 4th of July project), two seconds in youth and sports and agriculture and conservation and two thirds in chapter management and religious and Christmas activities. Saugerties Jaycees also won the man-mile award for having the most men travel the furthest distance to attend the convention in Buffalo. Other awards received included blue chip award for membership increase and an award for community development. Past local president, Wilson Edmunds, who was recently elected district president, was installed in his office in Buffalo by this year's state president, Joseph Cristiano. The Town of Saugerties becomes the only town of its size in the State of New York to boast the distinction of having had two state presidents. Don Lawson, charter president of the Saugerties Jaycees was state president in 1960. George Leombruno of Saugerties was Frank Antalek's campaign manager. Born in Schenectady, Antalek has made Saugerties his home for the past 13 years. He, his wife Diana, and their three children reside in Kings Village. Employed by International Business Machines Corporation, he is an associate systems analyst in Kingston. Antalek joined the Saugerties Jaycees in 1959 and has held local offices of state elected to his present post.

"Mattress Facts"

WHAT ABOUT UPHOLSTERY?

Be sure to read the label on the mattress and examine the cut-away model in the store. Notice how all the materials are tied together. Tufted mattresses are secured with buttons or similar devices. If the mattress has a smooth surface, make sure it's quilted, or tied internally. This is what keeps the padding and insulation in your mattress from shifting and lumping. For sufficient strength and durability, ticking should be 6 to 8 ounce woven material. Check for firm borders with inside rolled edges. Be sure there are enough side vents for proper ventilation.

Second Graders Tour Factory

SAUGERTIES

Study of a place of industry in a community led to a recent trip to the C and E Shoe factory by the second grade class of Mrs. Marilyn Putnam, Grant D. Morse School.

Frank Smedek, owner and manager, made the tour both fun and informative as he led the children through the steps and past the machines which put the sand-type shoes together. Many questions were answered during the tour.

Interest in a time clock brought about an informal discussion of management, the responsibility of both worker and employer and their concern for schools as taxpayers.

Upon return to the classroom, the trip was recorded in stories and pictures for further discussion and remembering.

Accompanying the class was Miss Gayle Pankowitz, cadet teacher from the State University College, New Paltz.

VA Office List Veteran Benefits

Veterans of the Vietnam conflict are being given the opportunity to continue their education or on-the-job training thanks to a new GI Bill.

The Veterans Administration will pay a returning veteran a minimum of $105 per month for either college, vocational training or apprenticeship training.

Details are available at the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs offices in the Ulster County Office Building on Fair Street. Charles Culver is the veteran counselor and John Tyler is the director.

The veterans office is also available to answer any questions a returning veteran might have in such areas as medical benefits. For instance, one veteran wrote the following question: Three months ago I was discharged from service. I failed to seek dental treatment just before separation because I thought it might hold up separation. Now that I'm out, can

I get VA to give me dental treatment, or is it too late?

A. With supporting military records, you can get VA dental treatment for service-connected conditions during the first year after separation. You may also, under present VA policy, receive treatment without supporting records, provided you apply within six months after separation, and it is determined professionally within eight months after your separation that the dental condition is service-connected.

Nine Troopers Cleared In Killing of Negroes

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP) — Nine state highway troopers have been cleared of federal criminal charges in the fatal shooting of three young Negroes and the wounding of 27 in the so-called "Orangeburg massacre."

A U.S. District Court jury took one hour and 29 minutes Tuesday to find the defendants innocent of violating the civil rights of the Negroes involved. Two of the 12 jurors were Negroes.

The shooting Feb. 8, 1968, climaxed four nights of racial violence touched off by attempts of college students to integrate a bowling alley. The troopers fired into a crowd of about 200 near the South Carolina State College campus at Orangeburg.

The civil rights violation charge was brought by the U.S. Department of Justice after a federal grand jury in Columbia, S.C., refused to indict the troopers, who claimed self-defense. The trial lasted eight days.

Charles Quintance, a Justice Department attorney, told the jury that the patrolmen opened fire because they thought the students should "be taught a lesson by the fastest and most effective means."

Defense counsel, state Asst. Atty. Gen. J.C. Coleman, argued that the troopers had shown restraint in dealing with the student violence until they came under sniper attack and were confronted by a mob hurling missiles.

Still pending are $100,000 civil suits filed by parents of the slain youths against Silas N. Pearman, the chief state highway commissioner. The commission has jurisdiction over the troopers.

Yet to be tried also is an action filed on behalf of all Orangeburg Negroes asking the federal court to supervise police and other city operations to guarantee that members of their race will be treated in a nondiscriminatory manner.

The entire materials handling procedure has been further mechanized by the addition of a conveyor system that now enables merchandise to move automatically around and through the entire building, minimizing the necessity of pushing boxes manually through various processing stages. Wickes Corporation Reports Net Income

Daniel M. FitzGerald, president and chief officer of The Wickes Corporation, has announced that net income for the first quarter of fiscal 1970 was $2,232,614, or 39 cents a share, compared with $1,966,164, or 34 cents per share for the same period a year ago. That is an increase of 15 per cent in per-share earnings.

Sales for the 13 weeks ended April 26, 1969, were $94,465,104, compared with sales of $83,342,177 in the same period last year, an increase of 13 per cent. All figures have been restated to include companies acquired in "pooling of interests" transactions up to this date.

FitzGerald said at the annual meeting of shareholders, the Saginaw, Mich., based firm plans to invest some $19.5 million in property, plant and equipment, and for initial inventory at new retail outlets. Wickes, he said, plans to open 40 outlets during fiscal 1970, bringing the number of outlets to 220 in 30 states by next January. Wickes also will remodel or relocate 17 existing outlets during the year, and will build a $3¼ million particleboard plant on land owned in Dinuba, Calif.

FitzGerald told shareholders the market studies are now under way to determine the feasibility of opening lumber and building supply outlets in Australia and the European Common Market. Shareholders also were informed that Wickes has broadened its operations in the

Annual Summer Training

2 From Area at Camp Drum With National Guard

KINGSTON Two area residents will take part in a New York State National Guard encampment at Camp Drum this week, as more than 4,000 members of the Emergency Headquarters Command hold their annual two-week summer training at the upstate site.

Lieutenant Colonel Frank Fabbie of Kingston left today for the camp and will be followed on Thursday by Master Sergeant Robert A. Gehr, a former Kingston resident, now living in Red Hook.

Command members will be arriving at Drum from all parts of the state, said Lt. Col. Fabbie, and will begin to return home after June 14.

While on their two-week encampment, guardsmen will set up living quarters and prepare for an intensive training that will include a four-day bivouac and a 24-hour tactical period. Time will be at a premium, says Lt. Col. Fabbie, a member of the unit's general staff, as the men move quickly to begin training and perform other missions.

The middle weekend will see many of the men on "pass" to enjoy the facilities available through the Camp Drum Special Services and the resort centers and recreation facilities nearby, including Alexandria Bay and the Thousand Islands. After weekend breaks, it's back to Drum and the final week of training and tests.

The colonel said the commander, Major General John C. Baker of Troy, and his staff will be "keeping a vigilant eye on the preparations being made for the tests," as well as other unit operations to evaluate the guardsmen.

Rogers Spreading the Word: Cutting Involvement Abroad

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers is spreading the word across Asia that the U.S. government is cutting its involvement abroad and intends to have no more Vietnamese.

While he has also given assurances that treaty commitments will be kept, Rogers has begun detaching the United States from the conflicts of Asia and promoting a substitute policy of regional self-reliance.

It is a big swing away from the policies which led the Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson administrations step by step into the Vietnam war.

Will Make Report

Rogers, winding up his first foreign venture in personal diplomacy, will report to President Nixon this weekend that the initial steps in disengagement have, on the whole, been met with enthusiastic approval by the leaders he has talked to. Associates credit much of his success to Rogers' style of personal diplomacy—easy, relaxed, and low-keyed, the manner of the highly successful corporation lawyer confidently working over problems with his clients.

The chief danger is that with his friendly desk-side manner, the secretary may have given the impression of more support than he intended to foreign leaders seeking sympathy for their special causes.

President Yahya Khan of Pakistan said Rogers was sympathetic to his request that the United States resume the sale of tanks, artillery, planes and other arms to his country. Rogers thought he was being diplomatically noncommittal.

Asian leaders, who tend to be formally polite, haven't seen a diplomat quite like Rogers before. Although they evidently liked him, they will watch closely now to see what action the United States takes. By this, they can measure the extent of his influence with President Nixon.

Three Points to Make

The secretary left Washington with three points to make, and he has made them everywhere he has gone—from Saigon to Tehran:

1. President Nixon is determined to bring the Vietnam war to a close for the United States one way or the other. He is ready for hard bargaining, but he will not compromise on the right of free choice for South Vietnam as part of a negotiated settlement.

2. Nixon will not abandon any U.S. treaty commitments or obligation. The United States is a member of SEATO, the South-east Asia Treaty Organization, and is the major supporter of CENTO, the Central Treaty Organization here in the Middle East, and will continue both roles.

3. The United States is limited in its resources and what it can do in Asia, so the Asians will have to do quite a lot more for themselves.

The policies Rogers has outlined seem to be derived directly from promises Nixon made in last year's presidential campaign.

He said then that Asian countries would have to take initial responsibility for their own security. He also said the United States would play a more active role in Europe, which he accused the Johnson Administration of neglecting.

TOPESS DEMONSTRATION — A demonstration outside the controversial "People's Park" in Berkeley, Calif., went topless when a number of bare-bosomed girls joined the crowd of several hundred protesters. Grim-faced National Guardsmen were undaunted by the sight. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Two More College Resignations As Student Protests Continue

By United Press International

The dean of students at City College of New York and a trustee of Seattle (Wash.) Community College have resigned in the face of student protest.

Boycott attempts continued at University of California schools and a sit-in was in its third day today at Southern Illinois University.

George Nicholas Paster, CCNY dean of students, said he was quitting because political pressures forced college officials to become "repressive disciplinarians."

Paster's resignation came amid a storm of criticism for a new admissions policy negotiated by CCNY officials and militant students. The policy would have half the freshman class enter with consideration of high school grades.

Carl Dakan, a member of the all-white board of trustees at Seattle Community College, resigned "out of protest because I didn't like what the board wanted to do."

Dakan said the board changed its mind and decided to meet student demands that a trustee resign to allow a black man to be appointed to the board. Three policemen were wounded by gunfire Monday in the most serious demonstration at the school.

The president of the college's Black Student Union called a halt to demonstrations after Dakan's resignation.

The Southern Illinois sit-in, protesting curfew hours for women, dwindled from a peak of some 2,000 students to around 200 late Tuesday. The protesters were sitting on the lawn of the school's president. The demonstration had been peaceful.

Tuesday the university approved a recommendation that faculty be allowed to cancel classes today and Wednesday at the 20,000-student school.

Elsewhere on the nation's campuses:

Texas—Police in Denton Tuesday arrested two men, one a North Texas State University student, and charged them with firing shotgun pellets that wounded 14 persons Monday night near Texas Woman's University.

Washington, D.C.—The House Committee on Internal Security will start open hearings next Tuesday on the role of Students for a Democratic Society in Campus disorders.

Welfare Group Not Successful In Buying Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Conference on Social Welfare, which reacted to disruptions by Welfare militants by appointing a committee to raise funds for the dissidents, has not successfully bought peace.

Moments after the conference's executive board accepted demands of the National Association of Black Social Workers Tuesday night, about 50 Spanish-speaking persons rose to present their demands. Then an American Indian took the microphone to demand a $3 hourly minimum wage.

The conference, a meeting of social workers from private and public agencies, had been disrupted for two days by the National Welfare Rights Organization, which claims to represent 30,000 of the nation's million welfare recipients.

The militants, who at one point barred doors of the meeting room and passed buckets to raise funds, wanted $35,000 to help organize the poor.

The conference, with about 1,000 delegates present at the New York Hilton voted to appoint a four-man board to raise funds for the NWRO. It also agreed to ask all 9,000 members to vote by mail on whether to raise at least $35,000, so 250 welfare recipients could attend next year's conference.

Nigeria Seizes Coordinator of Red Cross Relief

GENEVA (AP) — Nigerian authorities arrested the International Red Cross Committee's special relief coordinator in Nigeria, August Lindt, at Lagos airport Tuesday night, the committee announced today.

The Red Cross said it had asked the Nigerian government for Lindt's immediate release and for an explanation of the arrest.

"We do not know why or how Ambassador Lindt was arrested," a spokesman said. "At the moment we feel that the incident must be the result of a misunderstanding, or possibly an excess of zeal on the part of an official."

The Swiss Foreign Office said it had been advised through diplomatic channels that Lindt had been arrested along with an assistant and two pilots. It said it had no further information.

Lindt is on temporary leave from his post as Swiss ambassador to Moscow. He has been running the committee's relief program in both Nigerian territory and Biafra since spring 1968.

A major part of this has been an airlift of food and medicine for the Bifrans from the island of Fernando Poo and from Cononou, Dahomey.

State College Has Mortuary Science Course

FARMINGDALE
Applications are now being accepted for the only two-year degree program of its kind in the east in Mortuary Science starting Sept. 12, at the State University in Farmingdale.

In making this announcement today, Dr. Charles W. Laffin Jr., president of the college, said the purpose of the new curriculum is to offer the associate of applied science degree and to prepare qualified students to acquire the funeral director license and serve as funeral directors. "I know the demand is there. There is a definite need for this type of program," he said.

Dr. Laffin points out that after the completion of the two-year program, graduates are required by State law to complete an additional year of practical training and experience in a New York state funeral establishment to qualify for the state licensing examination.

Those seeking further information on this new program are urged to contact the State University at Farmingdale's Admissions Office or write directly to the office at Farmingdale, N.Y. 11735, or contact Francis J. McCordle, president of the Ulster, Greene and Sullivan Counties Funeral Directors Association.

Jacobs Receives Many Tributes at Testimonial

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP)—More than 190 persons attended a testimonial dinner for Larry Jacobs Sunday night at Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue. A number of speakers paid tribute to Jacobs' service to the synagogue as cantor for more than 30 years, an officer and hardworking member of the executive board. Aaron E. Klein gave the key-note address. Others taking part were Ephraim Propp, president of the congregation; Rabbi Cantor Chaskele Ritter, a nephew of the guest of honor, presented vocal selections accompanied by his son Samuel. Jacobs joined them for an Israeli folk song. Dinner music was provided by Syd Doman. Benjamin Schecter, a past president of the congregation, presented the honored guest with a gold watch from the group.

Congratulatory messages were received from local Jewish organizations as well as individuals in Kingston and such distant places as Mobile, Ala. and Mexico City. In addition to his congregational activities, Jacobs has been active in many civic and religious organizations including with his wife, Sylvia. The couple have two children, Dr. Henry Sclerosis, March of Dimes, and the Kingston Bowling Association. Robert Harris of Poughkeepsie is currently an active member of Zephaniah Lodge of B'nai B'rith and the Wiltwyck Country Club. He resides at 215 TenBroeck Avenue.

Members of the testimonial committee included: Seymour Semilof, chairman; Irving Reuben, co-chairman; Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Cohen; Harry Fertel; Dr. and Mrs. George Jacobson; Dr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobs; Ephraim Propp; H. G. Rafalowsky; Benjamin Schecter; Mrs. Seymour Semilof.

Klein Will Be Guest at
Cocktail Party

City Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein, a candidate for chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, will be guest of honor at a cocktail party Sunday, June 1 from 3 to 6 p.m. at the Kingston Stay-vant Hotel.

Guests will include county Democratic committeemen and other dignitaries. The party will elect a new leader at a convention set for June 23. Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, current party chairman, has notified the committee that he will not be seeking reelection. James A. McCardie, former city chairman, is also a candidate for Gorman's position. Klein was a Kingston city judge from 1958 to 1962. He was chairman of the city Democratic committee from 1962 to 1963 and county chairman from 1963 to 1967. Since 1967 he has been the city's corporation counsel.

Klein's main campaign theme has been the revitalization of the county committee. However, Klein has been strongly opposed to reorganization recommendations by Theodore Sorenson, former aide to President John F. Kennedy. He has promised to fight the Sorenson plan which he describes as "a naked grab for complete control of the party and its machinery."

$21.2 Thousand
County's Share
In Per Capita Aid

ALBANY
Ulster County will receive $21,231.49 as its share of the $4.4 million in per capita assistance from the state to cities and villages whose fiscal year begins June 1 or July 1. Each payment has been reduced 5 per cent below the normal formula grant as a result of action by the 1969 Legislature.

Unlike other types of state aid which are for specific purposes, per capita assistance may be used for any general municipal purpose. The formula includes a basic payment per person—$8.60 in cities and $3.60 in villages, plus five cents per person for each $100 by which the municipality's full real estate valuation is less than $8,000 per capita.

Greene County will receive $16,259.32; Dutchess $19,693.16; Orange $40,623.70; Delaware $24,158.66 and Columbia $9,660.55.

Grannie on the Protests - They're A Long-Time Thing

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—In the saloon-busting days of Carry Nation, Beatrice Whitnah made "enemies by the peck" at City Hall in waging her own defiant campaign for social reform.

Today a vigorous but crippled grandmother of 87, Mrs. Whitnah hobbles across the generation gap on crutches to remind City Hall the younger generation's protests are a long-time thing.

Mrs. Whitnah recently used her crutches to pry loose a nuclear bomb shelter sign from the face of Oakland's Hall of Justice. She sees the world's major governments preparing for nuclear war.

"I am perfectly willing to spend the rest of my life in jail," said the gray-haired Gold Star mother after a judge told her to stay within the law and stop tearing down bomb shelter signs.

"I don't think I have to stay within the law," Mrs. Whitnah said. "After all, this country was founded on civil disobedience. I believe in pacifism and non-violence. One's conscience is above the law. What harm is there in going to jail?"

Asserting the life expectancy of her three grandchildren was threatened by possible nuclear war, Mrs. Whitnah hobbled into the chambers of Oakland judge Myron A. Martin the same day he convicted a San Francisco man for tearing down similar signs.

"He talked to me, very nice and cordial, but he wouldn't

Unwed Mother Disappears, Turns Self In

SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI)—An unwed mother who disappeared from Scranton State General Hospital four hours after giving birth to a nine-pound boy has turned herself in to a doctor, police said Tuesday.

Police withheld the identities of the girl and the baby's father because they are juveniles, but said they are from Scranton.

The couple entered the hospital early Sunday when the girl went into labor and said they were Linda and Paul Connors of Binghamton, N.Y. They said they were staying at a motel here.

The girl gave birth Sunday morning, and the couple slipped out of the hospital that afternoon after viewing the infant.

Police began looking for them after a check showed no one named Connors at the motel or at the Binghamton address.

New Acting Dean Named at New Paltz

NEW PALTZ — A former dean of San Francisco State College has been named Acting Dean of the State University College here. The college named Dr. Jordan M. Churchill, a professor of philosophy at the California Institution to the post, a spokesman has announced.

Other appointments include Dr. Albert E. Negratti of the University of Portland, Oregon, as chairman of the New Paltz physical education department; and Mrs. Gail Gallerie, administrative assistant to President John J. Neumaier.

Starts July 1

The president said the selection of Dr. Churchill was made after extensive consultation with students, faculty and administrators.

Dr. Churchill will begin duties now handled by Acting Robert C. Davidson on July 1. Dr. Davidson will return to his former position as Director of Continuing Education, and Dr. Raymond Snider who has been acting director of that post, will return to his position as associate professor of science education, said the president.

The new dean has been active in faculty affairs and has served on numerous faculty and administrative committees at San Francisco, he said.

A New York City native, Dr. Churchill served as instructor of philosophy at Columbia University College before moving to San Francisco as an assistant professor.

The San Francisco State professor has served that community on curriculum and personnel committees and the committee for constitutions of the Academic Senate for both the college and the California State College system.

In the summer of 1965, he led the college's team at the Danforth Foundation's Seminar in Liberal Arts at Colorado Springs, and the next year traveled to Europe and Asia as a pilot and operations officer in the Central Pacific and science from the State University College at Albany.

Minor during a sabbatical leave. Since his return to the college that has been the center for student-faculty uprisings in recent months he has been a member of the Board of Publications and the all-college promotions committee and at present is a member of the Board of Governors of the Frederick Burk Foundation for Education.

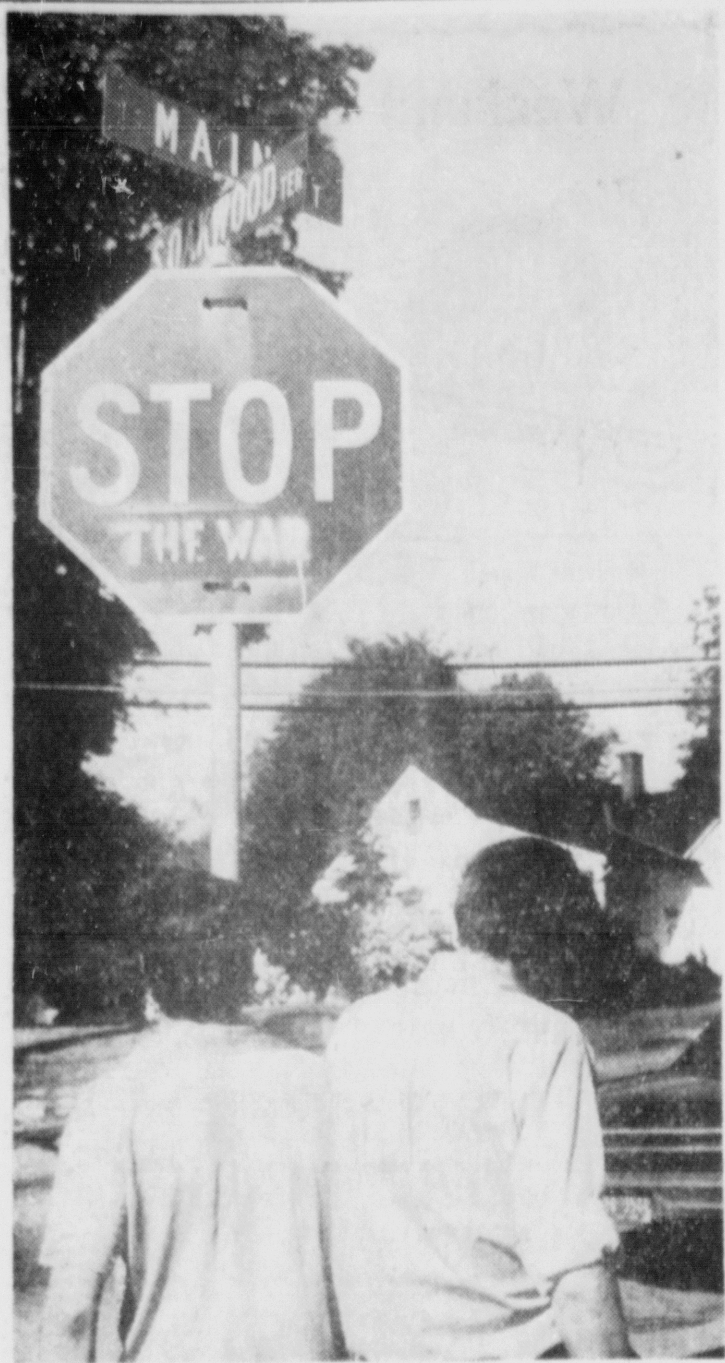

Columbia Graduate

Dr. Churchill attended Irving School in Tarrytown and Columbia College, where he received his bachelor's degree in 1937. He was awarded his PhD from Columbia University in 1956. During World War II, he served with the Army Air Corps as a pilot and operations officer in the Central Pacific and science from the State University College at Albany.

after the war joined the Columbia faculty.

Mrs. Gallerie, presently senior personnel administrator with the New York State Department of Audit and Control, holds a Master's degree in political science from the State University College at Albany.

Aaron Miller, who has been executive assistant to the president since last September, will devote half his time to academic matters in the fall, said President Neumaier.

STOP THE WAR — Two New Paltz residents ponder the ambiguous message on one of the approximately 40 stop signs in the Village which were converted into symbols of anti-war protest. The perpetrators, using a stencil and white fluorescent paint apparently executed the unique protest in the wee hours of the morning. A village official said that the signs will be restored as soon as possible, adding that "there is little the village can do about the war." (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Mohonk's Events Start on Sunday

LAKE MOHONK — The first of a series of events highlighting the 100th season at Mohonk Mountain House will be held Sunday.

Other events will include a reception by the Smiley family at the Lake Lounge at 5:30 p.m. and a buffet supper in the main dining room at 6:30 p.m. A service of song with solos by vocalists Yi-Kwei-Sze will be held in the main parlor at 8:30 p.m.

A panel of local friends and members of the family will discuss Mohonk in the Early Days at 9 p.m. The Rev. Ralph E. Davis, emeritus minister of Morrow Memorial Church, Maplewood, N. J. will serve as moderator.

Sunday and through the season there will be special displays at the mountain house in keeping with the Mohonk 100 theme.

(Granata Photo)

Miss Edith Hanna Oates of Mossy Brook Road, High Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Oates, exchanged nuptial vows with Charles Fred Hottinger, Livermore, Calif., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hottinger of Stayton, Ore., on Saturday, May 24, at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale.

The Rev. David Welch officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Cathy Kelly, organist, accompanied Mrs. James Sweeney who sang traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza A-line gown styled with a front panel of Alencon lace, a high neckline, long sleeves, and chapel-length train. A pill box headpiece held her floor length silk illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Jane Oates of New York was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a yellow dotted Swiss A-line gown fashioned with short sleeves and a high neckline. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies with a white ribbon. Bridesmaids were the Misses Elizabeth Oates, sister of the bride, High Falls; Sally Emmerling, Accord; Sharon Chin, Kingston, Jamaica, W.I. They wore gowns identical in styling to that of the honor attendant, and carried bouquets of white daisies accented with yellow ribbon.

Vernon Altman of Florida was best man. Ushers were John Oates, brother of the bride, High Falls; Donald Coolidge and Robert Kiburz, both of Boston, Mass.

After the wedding, a reception for 125 guests was held at The Old Fort in New Paltz. For her wedding trip to San Francisco and Yosemite Valley, Calif., the bride selected a light blue coat and dress ensemble with white accessories.

The bride received her Bachelor of Science degree in May from Boston University, Sargent College of Allied Health Professions, Division of Physical Therapy.

Her husband earned his BS degree in 1967 and a MS degree in 1968 at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is now studying at Stanford University where he is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, and Tau Beta Pi honorary engineering fraternity. He is associated with Sandia Corporation, Livermore, Calif.

The couple will reside at Livermore, Calif.

Miss Marilyn Emily Ebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Ebe, 11 Mainetti Drive, Poughkeepsie, became the bride of Thomas George Bigler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Bigler Sr., 312 Lucas Avenue, Kingston, on Saturday, May 24, at Community United Methodist Church, Poughkeepsie.

The Rev. C. Everett Wagner officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Susan Ebe, Poughkeepsie, served as maid of honor for her sister. Attendants were the Misses Patricia Bigler, sister of the bridegroom.

Kingston; Janet Quade, Fishkill; Jill Quaresimo, and Anne Sakalay, both of Poughkeepsie. Miss Donna Kay Spalt served as flower girl.

Lee Messler, Miami Beach, Fla., was best man. Ushers were Allan Merwede, Saddle River, N.J.; Dale Spalt, Port Ewen; Louis Quaresimo, Poughkeepsie; and Edward Senter, Longview, Wash. Leo J. Bigler Jr. served as ring-bearer.

After the wedding a reception was held at Poughkeepsie Tennis Club.

DUET RECITAL — Featured in a recital at the Woodstock Playhouse on Saturday, May 31 at 8:30 p. m. will be (L-R) Carolyn Friday, soprano, and Ruth Conway, mezzo-soprano. The singers were praised by critics after their recent Carnegie Hall recital. They offer a very varied program.

Saturday Night Concert Featuring Top Singers

Woodstock Playhouse has announced a duet recital featuring Carolyn Friday, soprano, and Ruth Conway, mezzo-soprano, will take place on Saturday, May 31, at 8:30 p. m.

Recently, after a concert at Carnegie Hall in New York City, they were highly praised by the critics and the New York Times had the following to say about the duet: "A program as fresh as spring, and graciousness of manner in singing it, made an unusually appealing evening of the duet program given by Carolyn Friday, soprano, and Ruth Conway, mezzo-soprano...the two singers offered anything but a hodgepodge. There was a whole group each of Purcell, Schumann, Brahms, Dvorak, duet arias from Mozart operas and an early Italian group of two works of Monteverdi and one by Carissimi. Both women sang with high musical intelligence and with a warmth of spirit that made it seem as though they were sharing the evening with friends rather than performing on a stage... Ryan Edwards was the excellent accompanist."

Ruth Conway has appeared in opera, concert, television and recitals. She made her operatic debut as Azucena in Verdi's "Il Trovatore" in Ulm, Germany under contract to the Ulm Opera Company. The artist, who recently returned from a West Coast tour as mezzo-soprano soloist with the Camerata Chamber Singers, has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra under Leonard Bernstein, with the Collegiate Choral under Abraham Kaplan, with the Little Orchestra Society, the Dutchess County Philharmonic Orchestra, and many others. No stranger to network television, she has appeared as soloist with the Camerata Singers under Abraham Kaplan in the Kodaly "Missa Brevis" seen on CBS and in Ezra Laderman's opera "Galileo," which had its premiere performance on CBS in May 1967. Following a two season tour with the Robert Shaw Chorale, she was heard as solo concertist on the Robert Shaw RCA Victor recording of the Bach "B minor Mass." Miss Conway's musical education consists primarily of private study in New York, Vienna and Zurich. She attended Oberlin Conservatory of Music and is a graduate of Columbia University.

Carolyn Friday had her first professional experience with the Fort Worth Civic Opera. Later, with the Dallas Lyric Theatre, she sang leading roles in "Traviata," "Don Pasquale," "Dido and Aeneas" and "Amelia Goes to the Ball." She toured for three seasons with the Robert Shaw Chorale, including its renowned European-Russian tour and has had experience in New York with the Bach Aria Group, the American Opera Society, the Little Orchestra Society, Camerata Singers, Actors Opera and the New York Philharmonic. Her versatility includes competence as an operatic heroine, concert singer, musical comedy and supper club performer, with a linguistic command of French, Italian, Spanish and German.

Carolyn Friday and Ruth Conway met some seasons ago when they were members of the Robert Shaw Chorale. They have sung together many times in the New York area in various ensembles at Carnegie Hall, Philharmonic Hall, Town Hall, and with various conductors.

Tickets for this unusual musical event may be obtained from the Woodstock Playhouse, Box 268, Woodstock.

MRS. JOSEPHINE COATES of Kingston and Edwin A. Bernstein, Esq., of New York (L.) watch with interest as Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan cuts the ribbon officially opening the new offices of Central Accounting System at 212 Fair Street, the former Garraghan home. Mrs. Coates, who is also comptroller of Coates and Company, Accountants, heads up the offices at 212 Fair Street. The work entails handling the accounts of 11 radio stations, six of which belong to the Regional Broadcasters Group, and five to the Southwestern Broadcasters Group. Mrs. Coates is a member of the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club and serves that club as its finance chairman. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

MRS. JEAN GAVIGAN (C) Central Hudson Home Economist, will return to Montgomery Wards, Kingston, on Thursday to demonstrate electric ranges, answering questions about the operation of Wards' Signature ranges and others. Bruce Randall, a former Mr. Universe, also will be on hand and will be sampling Jean Gavigan's cooking. Rotisserie cooking in self-cleaning ranges will be shown also. A similar demonstration was given by Mrs. Gavigan at Wards on Thursday, May 22.

MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION Nino Benvenuti (UL) and former light heavy champ Dick Tiger (UR) have been subpoenaed to appear before a Manhattan grand jury investigating boxing. Neither DA or Rackets Bureau Chief Al Scotti (LR) would comment. Scotti headed last major New York boxing inquiry which exposed Frankie Carbo (LL) a Mafia figure as undercover fight manager and promoter. (UPI FILE PHOTOS).

Benvenuti Gets The Word Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Nino Benvenuti, boxing's middleweight champion, and several other fight figures find out today why they were subpoenaed to appear before New York District Attorney Frank Hogan. "I don't know what it's all about, but we will cooperate," Benvenuti said Tuesday after Hogan's investigation first came to light.

Also subpoenaed were Dick Tiger, who upset Benvenuti in a nontitle bout Monday night; Bruno Amaduzzi, Nino's manager; fighter Frankie DePaula and his manager, Gary Garafola.

DePaula, a lightweight, was to have fought on the same card as Tiger-Benvenuti, but he was suspended after he and his manager were arrested on charges involving the theft of $80,000 in copper from a New Jersey pier.

Hogan's investigation reportedly does not specifically involve the outcome of the Tiger-Benvenuti fight but rather possible Mafia involvement in the fight game.

The New York Post said Tuesday subpoenas also have been served on a number of key Mafia figures known to be prominent in gambling operations.

According to the New York Daily News, a source said several persons connected with the Monday night fight have been under investigation for some time.

"They have been watched eating, drinking and associating with top underworld figures," the News quoted one source as saying.

Those persons who were ordered to appear at Hogan's office today also were expected to be called to testify before a New York County grand jury.

Benvenuti, meanwhile, also was concerned about his right hand in which he suffered a fractured bone against Tiger.

Dr. Kazuo Yanagisawa, an orthopedic specialist, said it will take from three to four months to heal.

Wield Hot Bats In City Softball League Contests

KINGSTON

The hitters ran wild again in the City Slow Pitch Softball League Tuesday night, with two of the games being terminated by the "13-run rule" which stipulates a game must be stopped if a team leads by 13 runs after four innings of play.

Twaalfskill scored 16 runs in the last three innings to drub Hurley Haven, 23-2. Van Winkle needed only four innings to rout Hercules Gold, 17-4, and Strangeloves exploded for 19 runs in the third inning to crush A.T.T., 27-3.

Jim Ferraro slugged three home runs and two triples to knock in six runs for Twaalfskill. Mel Williams rapped a single, triple and homer. Fred Orr hit a homer and two singles. Frank Reis won a 6-hitter.

Tony Santandora knocked in three runs for Van Winkle with a home run and double. Sheldon Levy had a homer and single and Norm Serinsky a double and two singles.

Jay Bertha and Dave Hoffman cracked single-homer combinations for Strangeloves, who sent 17 men to the plate before an out was made in the 19-run rally in the third inning.

Rondout baseball team played itself into a first place tie with New Paltz in the Ulster County Athletic League Tuesday, with a 6-2 win over host Pine Bush. The Ganders now have a 7-3 record in league play, as does New Paltz.

In other UCAL action, visiting Highland stayed very much in the pennant picture with an 8-2 decision against Onteora. Walkill came up with its first win of the season, dropping Marlboro, 9-7.

Coach Hal Ross's charges all but ruined the Bushmen's chances of staying in contention for the flag, scoring two runs in the second and sixth innings and single markers in the fourth and fifth.

Tom Frazier got the ball rolling, or rather, flying for the visitors with his two-run homer in the second inning. Keith Gorham was on base at the time.

Gorham doubled in the fourth, stole second and scored on an error.

Taking no chances and trying to make everything count, the winners resorted to a special play to score in the fifth. Bill Parete doubled, his first of two for the day, moved to third on ensuing plays, and scored as Gorham walked off the bag at first and started walking rather leisurely towards second. The Bushmen tried to get him out and Parete dashed for home.

Frazier then got on by an error in the sixth stanza and promptly stole second. Winning pitcher Tom Williams singled him in and came home on Parete's second two-bagger of the day.

Highland Wins

Joe Skipp fired a three-hitter and the Highlanders came up with four big ones in the top of the first to defeat Onteora. Mark Haberstroh took the loss.

Tony Biancardi started the first with a single and stole second. Gary Elia hit a fielders choice. Biancardi scoring on an error. Carlos Rodriguez singled to move Elia up, where he scored on Rich Passante's single. Tom Scott hit a sacrifice fly, scoring Rodriguez and Passante.

The winners added single markers in the second and fifth stanzas and two more in the seventh. Onteora tallied two in the bottom of the fifth. Mark Haberstroh took the loss.

Walkill's First

Tim Rosner, Walkill hurler, picked up the first win of the season in the boring yard.

UCAL for his team. Vin Monti took the loss in relief of starter Paul Ibsen. Mack Young smacked a two-run homer in the fourth and a solo shot in the sixth stanza. Both balls traversed a road in right field and were in play from a neighbor's yard.

Hunter Mt. Newmans Set For Stint in Montana

HUNTER a half mile downhill course which has just been completed at Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl, here. The second annual dual slalom with the Great Gorge ski team is also on the schedule.

Glenn Newman, racing coach at Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl, has been named assistant coach at the third annual Summer Racing Camp at Cooke City, Montana, in June and July.

Other coaches on the staff include Rip McManus of Great Gorge, a former Olympic team member; Tom Torge, coach of the New York State ski team; and Rudi Baer and Gerhard Hopfensberger, both professional racers from Europe.

Newman's wife, Kathy, secretary of the racing program at Hunter Mountain, will join him at the camp as a chaperone.

Also attending the camp in Montana with the Newmans are Kathleen and Jimmy Murray of Ellenville; Dorcas Roehrs and Holly Hurd of Clintondale; Bill Stern of Clarksdale and Jono Cobb and Jay Simson of New Rochelle.

Several hundred skiers from all over the country will participate in the camp's activities. The camp is divided into three sessions of two weeks each in which the racers are primarily coached in racing techniques. Also included on the camp's program are swimming, hiking, white water trips and calisthenics, besides movies and lectures by the coaching staff.

The Newmans have some very promising plans for the racers at Hunter Mountain next ski season. Among the six sanctioned races to be held at Hunter is a New York State Giant Slalom championship event.

Another is a downhill race to be held on the new one and STONE RIDGE the way the public is responding to our appeal. We're confident we'll make the $2,000 goal in good shape."

Major contribution to date is a $200 pledge from Woodstock Country Club.

The Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck Country Club are also expected to make a contribution.

Shawangunk Country Club at Ellenville has pledged $170. Dr. George Erbstein, the UCCC president, and Spartan Pools, have sent in $25 checks.

Among the $15 donors are Miss Mary Lou Raif and Gene Robbins. Ten dollar checks have been received from Mrs. Florence Irwin, Gary Nugent and the Rev. H. Hawkins.

Driving Ranges Cooperate

Both area driving ranges—the one operated by Herb Kessman and the new Arnold Palmer Range off the Sawkill Road—have pledged support of the campaign.

R. Abel Garragham, president of the Palmer facility, announced that all proceeds for the day's business on Saturday, May 31, would be donated to the cause.

In pledging the proceeds to Athletic Director Wolfe, Garragham said that "the opportunity for the Ulster team to compete in the national championships should not be lost."

He said that all proceeds from the driving range and miniature golf course would be turned over to the college.

Members of the golf varsity, Coach Mike Perry and Wolfe will be on hand at the golf facility on Saturday to meet the public. They will be there from 12 noon to 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

The UCCC team qualified for the National Junior College Athletic Association championships at Roswell, New Mexico, by winning the Region XV tournament at Kutsher's Country Club.

The event is scheduled June 9-13.

New skipper Lefty Phillips, with all modesty, will contend it was just a coincidence, but nevertheless the California Angels' ship has finally righted itself.

With Phillips at the helm for the first time since taking over earlier in the day, the listing Angels ended a 10-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over Cleveland Tuesday night.

"We waited for the ship to right itself and it finally became time that a decision had to be made," General Manager Dick Walsh said when he let Rigney go with a 11-27 record 12½ games out of first place in the American League's West Division.

It might only be a short successful voyage with the Angels keeling over again, but the Angels must be satisfied with even a one-game winning streak at the moment.

While the Angels sailed in winners, several others broke losing streaks—and winning streaks.

Oakland won for the first time in seven games with a 4-3 victory over Detroit, which had its three-game winning streak ended, and Washington shattered its six-game losing streak and Minnesota four-game winning run with a 5-1 triumph over the Twins.

The New York Yankees, after losing three straight, beat the Chicago White Sox 5-3 and Seattle ended Baltimore's five-game winning streak with an 8-1 rout over the Orioles. Kansas City won its fourth in a row with a 5-4 decision over Boston.

One of the first things Phillips did was insert Bubba Morton into the Angels' lineup in left field and Morton quickly got them started on the right course with a second inning double. He scored on Lou Johnson's double.

After singles by loser Sam McDowell, 3-6, Larry Brown and Lee Maye tied the game for Cleveland in the fifth, California scored the clincher in the seventh.

Rick Reichardt, moved from left field to first base by Phillips, beat out a bouncer and gave Chuck Dobson, 4-4, the Morton walked before Johnson looped the winning run-scoring hit to center field.

Hoyt Wilhelm, in relief of Jim McGlothlin, 4-3, blanked the Indians the last two innings and the Angels were home free.

Sal Bando gave Oakland its victory with a seventh inning homer off reliever Don McMahon, 0-3, that broke a 3-3 tie and gave Chuck Dobson, 4-4, the triumph with a four-hitter.

Barry Moore, 3-1, scattered six hits in his first complete game in 27 starts since 1967 and only the third by a Washington pitcher this season. Brant Alyea backed with a homer and a single for three runs.

Mel Stottlemyre of the Yankees, who has lost three times, became the first eight-game winner in the major leagues when he slugged a two-run tie-breaking homer with two out in the eighth inning off Wilbur Wood. His single also helped the Yankees take a 3-2 lead in the seventh.

With Roy Oyler, Mike Hegan and Gerry McNertney hitting solo homers behind him, Gene Brabender, 2-3, breezed past his former Baltimore teammates with a seven-hit effort for Seattle. Tom Phoebus, driven out in a five-run fifth, lost for the first time in six decisions as the Orioles dropped only their second game in 12 outings. The hot Pilots have won 12 of 16.

Jackie Hernandez capped a rally of three unearned runs in the seventh inning with a bloop two-run single that brought Kansas City from behind. Boston had held a 4-2 lead on Reggie Smith's three-run homer.

Al Santorini yielded 12 hits but managed to stagger through to his first victory since April 18 as San Diego downed the Mets, straight for a 5-2 record, yielded an RBI single to Lou Brock and Joe Torre's eighth homer, and the relief pitcher Cecil Upshaw also was touched for a homer by the Cards' Bob Johnson.

Roberto Pena singled in the winning run for San Diego and Ollie Brown produced the other two with a homer and single.

National Kayak Champions Enter Slalom at Phoenicia

PHOENICIA The International Canoe Federation has designated the 1969 Esopus Slalom as the Eastern Whitewater Championships in Kayak classes, single kayak for men and single kayak for women.

The current champions—Jan Binger of Mt. Kisco and Eric Hanover of Hanover, N. H.—will be in Phoenicia to defend their titles Saturday and Sunday.

The holiday events are co-sponsored by the Kayak and Canoe Club of New York and the Rotary International of Phoenicia. The races get underway about 10 a.m. daily in the rapids near the iron bridge in Phoenicia village.

Kayak and canoe champions return each year to challenge the rapid waters of the Esopus Creek and hopefully to gain points toward an invitation to join the U.S. team that will go to the 1969 World Championships at Bourg St. Maurice, France.

Varied Entry List

Contenders of top rank as well as intermediates will race in the rapids, paddling upstream, downstream, sideways, even backwards; in and out of eddies, over boiling boulders; all against the stop watch.

Natural hazards along the course are made more exciting to negotiate by suspending gates at intervals across the stream. A gate consists of two colored poles hung from overhead wires.

Gates are numbered in sequence (1-15 or more) and must be run in proper order and attitude which is indicated by the color of the poles. Thus competitors are confronted with passing through gates upstream, bow-first and at times stern first. They are also required to paddle in reverse—downstream—stern-first.

Scoring is based on elapsed time, with penalties assessed for faults incurred while clearing gates. The lowest score in each class wins.

Nip Lourdes, 8-7

SAUGERTIES Sawyer Jayvees topped Our Lady of Lourdes, 8-7, in a home game. The Junior Sawyers picked both the tying and winning markers in the final stanza.

Bill Ohno was the winning pitcher, while Duffy Richardson took the loss.

Dennis Sheehan went 2-for-2, including 2 rbi's for the winners. He also scored the tying run.

Ohno helped his own cause, going 3-for-4. Mike Kelly and Bill Tougas had doubles for the visitors.

Schryver's Seek Softball Contests

KINGSTON Schryver's Noggin Club, managed by Freddy Schryver of Kingston, is interested in booking Sunday slow pitch games with county teams.

Interested team managers may contact Schryver at Schryver's Tavern, 138 Smith Avenue, Kingston.

Aurigemma Named Jasper's Captain

Batted at .365 Clip This Year

RIVERDALE

Richard M. (Rod) Aurigemma, Mahattan College's All-Metropolitan Conference third baseman the last two seasons, has been elected captain of the Jaspers' 1970 baseball team, it was announced today by Dave Curran, the Mahattan coach.

A resident of Marlboro, N.Y., Aurigemma will be the 66th captain in Mahattan's 67-year history of inter-collegiate baseball. He succeeds Harry Pritts of Mamaroneck, who graduates next month.

Aurigemma is completing his senior year.

The muscular 6-1, 195-pounder led Mahattan in batting the last two seasons and has a two-year varsity batting average of .360. In addition to leading the club in batting (.365), Aurigemma led the club this season in doubles (8), triples (2), walks (21), runs batted in (22) and fielding (.977).

The 21-year-old business major was an All-Ulster County Athletic League (UCAL) performer in three sports at Marlboro Central High, earning letters in basketball, football and baseball.

Aurigemma was also a member of the Jack Powers' varsity basketball team at Mahattan for the past two seasons.

"Hot Rod" as he is called by Coach Curran and his teammates, Aurigemma will play summer baseball for the Mount Vernon Generals in the Atlantic Collegiate Baseball League.

Aurigemma comes from one of the best known athletic families in his district in New York State. Several brothers are starred in the major sports at Marlboro High.

next season and will be replaced as baseball coach by Ron Cole, the current Jayvee mentor.

Pete Helmich was the winning pitcher. Pistol Pete struck out 11, walked four and allowed but three hits in his seven-inning stint. The locals bailed him out in the fifth stanza with their tenth double play of the season.

The winners got three runs in the second inning. Rich Sorenson led off with a single. Greg Rios got on a fielder's choice and Harry Lyons followed with a single, scoring Sorenson. Rios came in on a wild pitch. Paul Watzka walked and Helmich got an infield hit to score Lyons.

After Poughkeepsie tallied runs in the first and second stanzas to take a 4-3 lead, Kingston iced things with two more in the fifth. Nick Ascienzo went to first on an error. Sorenson doubled him to third and Rios hit a slashing single to score both men.

The double play came in the fifth. Rupert Tarver attempted a bunt to move Paul McPeck to second. It looked like the bunt would be perfect, however, Ascienzo came charging in from his first base position, fell to the ground, stretched out to his full length and gathered the ball full length it touched the turf. He then turned over and flipped the ball to Watzka, who was alertly covering first, doubling up McPeck.

Allen Quigley got the loss, as the locals finished the season with a 6-7 overall record. Dave Riccio drove in two runs for the losers, as did Tarver.

National Golf Day

The traditional formal opening of the golf season is scheduled this weekend, with holiday tournaments and social events listed at area clubs.

Memorial Day, May 30, is also National Golf Day, that one day in the year when experts and duffers alike match skills with National PGA champion Julius Boros and Lee Trevino, the reigning U. S. Open kingpin.

Flag tournaments are scheduled Friday at Wiltwyck Country Club and The Twaalfskill Club. Woodstock has a Points tournament Friday, a dinner dance Saturday night and Mixed Best-Ball event on Sunday.

Wiltwyck has scheduled its dinner dance Saturday, Twaalfskill on Friday night. A Scotch 2-ball mixed event is set for Sunday at Twaalfskill.

The target score for National Golf Day will be set when Boros and Trevino meet in an 18-hole stroke play.

Golfers may play National Golf Day rounds in connection with tournaments or on their own. They may play as many rounds they wish on payment of a $1 entry fee.

Men use their established handicaps in computing their net scores for NGD purposes. Women will use their established handicaps plus seven additional strokes. Those without handicaps may use the Callaway Handicap System for rating the unhandicapped.

All National Golf Day participants will compete against the winner of the Round of Champions on the basis of their scores, with handicaps, in relation to par.

In other words, if the target score established is 1-under-par, then participants must score 2-under-par, with handicaps, at their own course in order to defeat the winner of the Round of the Champions.

Everyone who defeats the winner of the Round of the Champions this year will win an attractive plastic bag similar to the one shown on the enclosed poster.

The bag tags will be delivered to the golf clubs as soon as possible after the home pro has filed the official score sheets with the Professional Golfers Association.

All scorecards used on National Golf Day must be signed by the golfer and checked by the club pro.

Our professionals who are participating in the PGA-sponsored event are: Alex Gerlak, Twaalfskill; Ian (Scotty) Robertson, Wiltwyck; Jim Hutchins, Woodstock; and Frank Misarti, Sawyerkill.

Saturday at Monticello Raceway Italians Coming!

MONTICELLO — The Amazzonei, an Italian lady harness racing driving team, will be featured Saturday afternoon, May 31, at Monticello Raceway. The Amazzonei, a band of nine outstanding, competent horsewomen, are currently making their first tour of North America and are leaving the Americans behind in bewilderment in a three race series competition.

Last week, making their first appearance on American soil, the Italians made short work of their opponents, winning both events at Delaware's Brandywine Raceway. Following their Monticello appearance, in which they will be competing against some of the finest lady drivers from Canada and the United States, the team will move on to Blue Bonnets Raceway in Montreal, Canada where the tour terminates.

While there are nine members on the Italian team, only eight will actually see service. The team also has an alternate ready for action at anytime.

Members of the Amazzonei are Signorina Marina Mescalchin, 20 year old native of Ponte De Brente who is the only single member of the team; Signorina Graziella Amanti Francheschini, whose husband is also a devoted trotting fan and gentleman driver; Signora Cesire Castilini of Milan, who along with her husband operates a stable of ten trotters; Signora Loredana Moretti, whose husband is a surgeon doctor in Ravenna, and last year's winner of the Italian championship for lady drivers; Signora Luciana Cacciari, whose daughter Antonella is a member of the Italian National Junior equestrian team.

Other Amazzonei are Signora Graziana Zagato, a magistrate in the court of Montanama; Signora Franca Borelli, Amazzonei champion in 1966; Signora Franca Giunti, Amazzonei champion in 1967; and Signora Fulvia Mattioli, an art professor in Rome.

The Italian lady drivers are hoping for a repeat of their Brandywine performance where victories by Signora Fulvia Mattioli and Signora Loredana Moretti gave the visiting Italians a commanding lead.

The Italian and North American women will be driving trotters furnished by horsemen now competing at the Mighty M.

LE AMAZZONI — The Italian lady harness racing driving team will contest the second of a series of three races in North America on Saturday afternoon at Monticello Raceway. From the left: Graziana Zagato, Franca Borelli, Fulvia Mattioli, Franca Giunti, Loredana Moretti, Cesira Castilini, Marina Mescalchin, Luciana Cacciari and Grazia Frenschini.

Raceway Feature Won by Loan Shark

Lone Shark, determined 5-year-old son of Fisherman Dauntless with his driver and trainer, Don Gillis at the Reins, bested the competition in the featured trot at Monticello Raceway Monday night to take the event in 2:10.1.

Lone Shark crossed the wire a full length ahead of his challengers, Highland Dan and B. Jamie who were virtually nose to nose. Driver Julius Benedict could not keep his charge, B. Jamie, on stride however, and he broke two steps from the wire. The misstep caused the judges to disqualify him from second, and placed him third.

Pace-setter for most of the trot was Elmira Hanover, Robert Schlosser driving, who took over the lead from Lone Shark after the pack had passed the quarter pole. Elmira Hanover was still in front as the field straightened out into the stretch after the paddock turn, but Lone Shark moved up from second to become the victor. In doing so, Lone Shark racked up his first victory of 1969. His record now stands at five starts, with one win, one place and one show.

The daily double at the Mighty M resulted in only a $6.00 payoff when the heavily favored combination of 3 and 4 crossed the wire to point up the mathematics of odds on betting to two dollar wagers.

The opening trot was taken by Supreme Song, Clint Galbraith driving. The 3-year-old son of Adios Boy-Rock Song left the rank of maidens by touring the distance of one mile in 2:09 flat.

In the second race, another maiden, Rebele Belle, a 4-year-old mare by Ranger Hanover-Shadydale Addie, was the victor, taking the pace in 2:10, with Jimmy Wingfield in the sulky.

Dear Abby

'Prize' Irks Her Mate

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My wife took a secretarial job with an insurance company just to keep herself busy as the kids are grown and gone. Suddenly she announces that she and a man she works with are going on a weight losing contest. The one who loses the most weight in 30 days has to treat the other one to a steak dinner in the best restaurant in town. (Just the two of them.) I trust my wife, but I don't like the idea of her going out to dinner with another man. He's married, too, but I understand his wife is all for it as she'll do anything to get him to lose weight.

Should I go along with this "contest" or not?

DEAR JEALOUS: It sounds like a fun kind of contest with a healthy objective. Give them your blessings and may the biggest loser win.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, I overheard my teen-age son telling a friend that the two teen-age daughters of a good friend of mine were having sexual relations with the two sons of a woman who is a mutual friend of both the mother of the girls and myself.

When I asked my son how he came by this information, he said the two boys had been bragging about it at school. My son asked me not to tell anyone but I have not, as yet, agreed. I told him I would have to think about it.

Abby, I have never believed in interfering in the lives of my friends but I wonder if I would be a true friend to the two mothers if I just keep quiet. By speaking out, I could either be instrumental in helping all concerned avoid a tragedy, or I could lose two friends.

Consequently, I have decided to ask your advice and then follow it. Of course, I do not know that the boys' boasts are even true, but I do know that the boys and girls have been dating.

CONCERNED PARENT
DEAR CONCERNED: Now would be a good time to tell your son that a man of character NEVER — but NEVER repeats ugly rumors. And if I were you, I'd remain silent.

DEAR ABBY: Now that the summer season is soon upon us, how about some help from you for our poor souls who have summer cottages?

We've had our cottage 10 years and each summer we are more popular than the summer before. Friends and relatives come in drives to enjoy themselves in the sun over our food and drink. They stay anywhere from a week-end to a full week. Of course, they always come empty-handed.

We have even written notes in advance saying "We are sorry, but we can't have you this year." — but they come anyway. Why are some folks so thick? We bought this place to get away from these people.

We don't want to seem cranky, but we'd like to entertain the guests we really WANT, without all these others "surprising" us. We're tired of running a free hotel, and are thinking of selling. Can you help us?

FED UP IN PITTSBURGH
DEAR FED UP: If you've actually written to say you can't have them — and they come anyway — your only salvation is to develop a thicker hide than they have. Greet the unwelcome ones at the door with, "You may stay for a few hours, but when the sun disappears, please do likewise."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 a. m. WKNY-1490)

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Hold tight to money. No day for extravagance. Have frank discussion with mate, partner about budget, saving program. Keynote is harmony through domestic adjustment.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): What appears to be terrific opportunity may have some hidden deficits. Know this. Be mature in your responses. Means don't give up something for a mere promise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be considerate toward one who may be ill. Good day for visiting shut-ins. Quiet efforts get best results. Display sense of responsibility. Surprise those who say you can't concentrate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You may have to draw line at special favor to children, loved ones. This is a day to finish, complete and to throw off a burden not rightly your own.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Some restriction are but temporary. Realize this and don't panic. Accent on viewing persons, situations in new light. Welcome challenge of different concepts. Meet people.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Think over travel possibilities. Don't jump at first offer. What you have may be worth more than what you could get. Realize this—respond accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Shake off gloom. You may not get everything you want, but you do receive what is needed. Be versatile. Don't insist on understanding all details. Answer will be forthcoming.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21):

Cycle high, but there is minor opposition. Older individual does not seem to want to adjust. Be patient. Events are due to occur in your favor. Dress brightly today. Be seen.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You get ideas. Present them to one associated with you in club, group, organization. Mutual efforts tend to succeed today. Welcome chance for greater self-expression.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Disagreement could occur among friends. Don't get caught in middle. Be mature. Shake off tendency to be envious. Family member deserves praise. Give it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accent on how to hurdle obstacle. You do so by demanding that promises, agreements be put in writing. Otherwise, you invite deception.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You gain nothing by running away. Not so good for long-range plans. Best to wait. Settle business details. Accept responsibility, assignment.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are intuitive, many feel you have extrasensory perception. If single, marriage is coming close. You are due for refreshing changes, added creative activity.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

THE ANSWER: (Q.) My girl friend and I were at this party and we met these boys. They asked us if we were virgins.

We almost fainted. We asked them why should they know, and they said, "We like to go out with girls who know what they are doing."

We walked away and said, "You will never know."

My question is: What DO you say to boys who ask if you are a virgin?—Puzzled in Connecticut.

(A.) Your answer was a good one. Use it again any time you need to. And you were right to walk away from boys like that. Don't walk back.

ROAD NUT: (Q.) My boy friend has a car and he drives like an idiot. Every day I tell him to slow down. At school he speeds through and just barely misses people. It makes me mad. I keep nagging at him but that makes it worse.

He absolutely hates it when anyone tell him how he drives. When he gets mad at me for bringing it up, he steps on the gas.

Is there some other way I can get him to slow down?—A Reader in California.

(A.) About the only way you can get a truly car-crazy boy (and your friend seems to be truly one) to slow down is to let him hit something that stops him.

However, you can protect your own life by not riding with him. My advice is to forget him and hope he lives to grow up. If he does, maybe you can date him again some slower day.

You can have a lot of fun with today's hand. Chances are most declarers will wind up making only eight tricks due to the fact East holds four cards in each minor suit. But some declarers will stumble into a squeeze against East. A few will actually play this squeeze and it will be difficult for East and West to avoid it. They can if West opens a club or a diamond and forgets about his own long suits.

However, West has a normal opening lead of the king of spades. South ducks on general principles and West will surely continue the suit. South ducks again but has to win the third spade.

His next play should be a low heart. West will almost surely play the seven spot and South should duck in dummy. Remember if South is playing for a squeeze he wants to lose four tricks in order to develop it. If West proceeds to cash his last spade the squeeze will be established, but West may be smart enough to see what is going on and to lead a second heart.

It actually does West no good. South simply cashes the ace and king of hearts and East must discard either a diamond or a club. A diamond gives South four tricks in that suit. A club allows South to lead three rounds of clubs and set up his fourth club for the ninth trick.

A really expert South might improve slightly on this line of play by just taking his ace of hearts, leading a low club and covering West's five with dummy's seven. Then he would win the minor suit return, cash dummy's king of hearts and make his ninth trick in whichever minor suit East discarded.

There are lots of other variations. As we said earlier, you can have lots of fun with this hand.

Harvey Korman's Home Life

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Harvey Korman, resident comedian on "The Carol Burnett Show," has an off-camera sense of humor, but not when it comes to hippies and other weird types who infest his neighborhood.

He's moving out. The husky comic and his wife of nine years, Donna, live above the Sunset Strip. And inasmuch as they have two youngsters: Maria, 4, and Christopher, 2, they don't want them exposed to the freaks in beards, tattoos, long stringy hair and love beads.

The Kormans would prefer to remain in their 1930 composite of Mediterranean-California stucco because it has a view of the city, a swimming pool and is furnished with a mixture of antiques and contemporary pieces they selected especially for the home.

Shadow Casts Pall
It's sunny and bright, but the shadow of today's Sunset Boulevard casts a pall on the Korman home life.

In addition to their two children, the three-bedroom home is occupied by a full-time maid and a Siamese cat named Kelly who recently gave birth to a litter of three kittens.

From the land of pot and posies, Korman hopes to move to Beverly Hills. It's a matter of one mile in distance, light years in substance.

Korman works five days a week on the Burnett show, reading through the script on Monday, blocking out the sketches and musical numbers on Tuesday and Wednesday, Camera rehearsal Thursday and taping on Friday.

Friday Is Tough
On Tuesdays and Wednesdays Korman works only from 2:5 p.m. Friday is the tough day—11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Weekends the Kormans devote to their offspring. They poke around playgrounds, pony rides, amusement parks, the zoo, picnics and short trips to San Diego and Santa Barbara.

When the children tire out Harvey sneaks off to play golf at Bel-Air Country Club with a few cronies. He also plays tennis at the courts of neighborhood friends.

Their entertaining runs in spurts. For six months they won't have a guest to dinner, then they might have three or four dinner parties a week before slowing down their social life again.

Donna does the family cooking, despite the presence of a maid. She has a special touch with onion soup and French and Italian dishes.

Steaks and Chops Man
Korman is a steaks and chops man.

Harvey, unlike many show folk, is not a collector. He is, in fact, constantly throwing out things.

"I believe life should be lived as simply as possible," he says. "And possessions just tie you down. If I find something we don't need or aren't using—out it goes."

The comedian has the curious habit of starting several books at once and rarely finishing any of them. He explains this by saying he hates to see the end of anything.

Born in Chicago 42 years ago, Korman has fitted himself to California living. His wardrobe is 1948 vintage, marking the time he left the Midwest. He loathes shopping and is content to spend his non-working hours in blue jeans and sneakers.

"Donna buys clothes for me," he concludes. "If I go into a store alone I buy a Polish polo coat that doesn't fit and I have to throw it away."

Legislators to Business: Keep Holiday Patriotic

KINGSTON newspapers, gasoline, oil, charcoal, drugs, medicine, tires, surgical instruments, confections and souvenirs.

Certain business and trade restrictions on Memorial Day are being asked by the Veteran's Affairs Committee of the Ulster County Legislature.

The committee asks that the public and businessmen of the community cooperate in compliance with Local Law I in order that Memorial Day may be set apart as a day of rest, repose and patriotic observance for the general welfare and health of residents.

The law requires that all labor and trades relating to commercial and business activities be prohibited except in cases of necessity or charity. The report continues:

All sales of goods are prohibited with the exception of food, flowers, tobacco in their respective village, town days, or both. If the violator of the law is a corporation or association then the will be punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or imprisonment of not more than 30 days, provided, the committee says.

Joint Word Due on Talks

RED HOOK In regard to the Mill Road Elementary School in the works due to an April referendum, Keefe said that the "complete basic plans and layouts have been done by the architect, and he has sent the plans to the engineers. Bids should be sent out in a month or two."

"A joint announcement will be forthcoming shortly on the contract negotiation results," Red Hook Central School Supervising Principal Russell J. Keefe said Tuesday.

"We have reached the end of the road, and all that remains is to have the faculty association and the board of education approve the agreement. Negotiating has concluded," he said.

Laotian Troops Still Battling

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian army troops reported pulled out of Xieng Khouang on Saturday, after occupying it for a month, because they considered further occupation futile. The population of 15,000 has fled to nearby towns in government-controlled areas.

The battle for the Plaine des Jarres has developed in the past month into one of the most serious engagements in Laos in more than two years.

Government losses have not been disclosed. But army headquarters in Vientiane claims more than 500 North Vietnamese have been killed so far, mainly in air strikes.

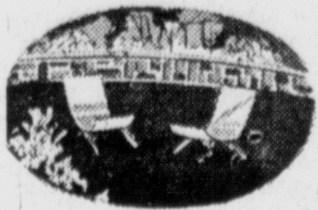

'No Man's Land'

"The town has been flattened," a senior officer said. "Xieng Khouang is a no man's land."

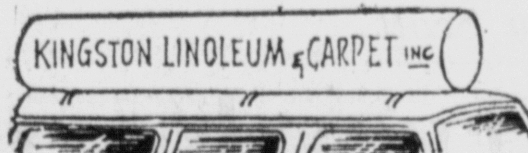

The Plaine des Jarres is a barren plateau of strategic value because main east-west and north-south highways meet on it. Xieng Khouang is on the southeastern edge of the plain, 30 miles from the North Vietnamese border.

Government control of the area could seriously interfere with the movement of North Vietnamese troops and supplies along the Ho Chi Minh trail to South Vietnam.
